Israeli Is Tense Over New Fight

Two-Hour Battle Staged in Sharon Valley by Jewish-Iraqi Troops, Is Report

'No Quick End'

Ben-Gurion Declares Israeli Enemies Not Arabs Only

Tel Aviv, Israel, Jan. 14 (AP)—Fresh bloodshed in a Jewish-Iraqi battle left Israel's central front tense today.

Israeli and Iraqi troops fought for two hours yesterday on the potentially explosive Sharon Valley Sector. Both sides suffered casualties.

An army spokesman said a Jewish punitive expedition clashed with Iraqi regulars. Jews said the Israeli troops were hunting Arab raiders accused of killing two settlers, kidnaping two women and rustling cattle in the area, of Tira, a Jewish village 16 miles northeast of Tel Aviv.

(Tira lies in Israel about a mile west of the Arab-Jewish partition line. This dispatch, which passed through Israeli censorship, did not say whether the battle was fought east or west of the line.)

The central front has been quiet under the United Nations truce for weeks, while attention centered on warfare in the south between Israel and Egypt, another of the Arab nations which sent troops into Palestine last spring.

However, an Arab League report from Cairo that Iraqi troops had been ordered to join the Egyptians in the renewed fighting drew official attention here last Wednesday. An Israeli Army spokesman said: "Many Israeli commanders will be only too happy if the Iraqi Army commanders * * * start fighting."

Premier David Ben-Gurion, addressing a group of Jewish volunteers yesterday, hinted he believed the shooting might be over soon, though "our enemies—and they are not the Arabs only—still hope to exterminate Israel and its military force."

"I cannot say there is no prospect for an early and quick end to the war," he said.

The Israeli army denied Egyptian charges that Jewish forces had used tear gas and choking gas against the encircled 3,000-man Egyptian garrison at Faluja, 30 miles south of Tel Aviv.

The charge was made by the Egyptian commander in chief to U. S. Brig. Gen. William E. Riley, chief of the United Nations military staff at Haifa.

(The Egyptian War Ministry announced last night that Egyptian planes broke up Jewish troop concentrations around Faluja. The ministry said Egyptian and Israeli forces continued to exchange small arms fire along the southern front.)

Israeli spokesmen reported only small-scale action in the Negev.

A government spokesman declined to commen on reports from abroad that the United States threatened to withdraw recognition of Israel if Jewish forces invaded territory of the neighboring Arab States. Asked about British fears on this score, the spokesman said Israeli forces are "no nearer Tans-Jordan now than a week or two weeks ago."

The nearest Israeli position to Trans-Jordan known to correspondent here is at Sodom, near the southern end of the Dead Sea, where a Trans-Jordan village and Jewish settlement are in sight of one another.

(The British have charged that Israeli troops at one time entered Egyptian territory. Reports from the front in the south have indicated fighting close to the Egyptian frontier.)

Pastor Is at Hospital

The Rev. Herbert Killinder, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts street, is a patient at Methodist Hospital, Sixth street and Seventh avenue, Brooklyn. He underwent a stomach operation Monday morning and reports from Mrs. Killinder are encouraging. The Rev. Burton F. Tarr, D.D., district superintendent, will have charge of arranging the services at Trinity Church, during the Rev. Mr. Killinder's absence.

State Bank Call

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—Elliott V. Bell, state superintendent of banks, announced today that December 31, 1948 has been designated as the day as of which reports of the condition of state banks, trust companies, industrial banks and private banks should be submitted to him.

Parking Meter Take For Year Is $36,690

First report for a full year in the city's parking meters shows $36,690.80 collected in 1948, the city treasurer's office reported today.

The 1947 report, which was only from April to December, showed $24,210.63 collected in that year, and during the first few weeks of operation installation had not been completed.

Collections for December, 1948, totalled $3,174, only $6 under the November total. The lowest amount collected for the year was in January when the total was $2,030, and the highest was in October when $3,436 was collected.

Should Purify Flooded Wells And All Cisterns

Health Department Warns Water Should Be Boiled; Advises Chemicals

Although flood waters have subsided throughout this area with no damage to public water supplies, the Ulster County Department of Health warns that there should be precaution in cases where private wells and cisterns were flooded.

Flooding of these private facilities, the department advises, may create a danger through pollution of the water delivered by them. Rising water has flooded cesspools and septic tanks, washed fecal material from privies and backed up sewers. Hence, any surface water or shallow ground water in the flooded areas must be regarded with suspicion.

Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation, of the Ulster County Department of Health has assigned two sanitary inspectors to the flooded areas to help and advise in the disinfection of private wells and cisterns in the worst cases. However, it is not possible for the inspectors to cover all flooded premises. The Health Department advises that to insure a safe water supply, all drinking water should be boiled from such private wells where contamination by surface water is suspected.

When flooding of the wells or cistern has cleared, Edinger advised today that some chlorine compound, such as chloride of lime, H.T.H., Perchloron, or Chlorox be used. This material should be added to the water in the well or cistern until chlorine can be detected by the sense of smell in the water pumped. The cistern or well should then be allowed to stand at least 12 hours and then pumped to waste through the house water system.

Should the householder need more help or advice, they may write or call the Ulster County Department of Health.

Care should be used in pumping out dug wells or cisterns to avoid collapse of the structure due to the high pressures from saturated earth. The stored water should be drawn out slowly and pumping stopped immediately if any sign of caving develops.

Phone Hike Hearing

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 4 (AP)—The Public Service Commission today scheduled preliminary hearings on the application of the New York Telephone Co. for increased rates totaling an estimated $49,000,000 annually. The telephone company is seeking an interim increase of 10 per cent on local service charges and a permanent rate increase of about 15 per cent. The permanent rate increases for individual telephones would vary by communities. They also would boost by five cents all intra-state calls now costing 20 cents or more.

Residential Area of Warren Hit by Vicious Tornado

Warren, Ark., Jan. 4 (AP)—Mayor Jim Hurley expressed belief today that the fatality toll in last evening's tornado would exceed 50. Between 250 and 300 were injured.

He said the death toll stood at 46 and he expected more bodies would be found in debris that littered a 20-square block residential and industrial area. At least 27 dead had been tentatively identified. Identification of several others was difficult because of the condition of the bodies.

The mayor said 150 National Guardsmen and state policemen began combing wreckage at daybreak and should complete the task by 10 a. m. (C.S.T.).

Hurley said one of the injured had died in a Little Rock hospital, two in Pine Bluff hospitals and one at Monticello. Some of the other injured were not expected to recover.

He expressed belief the losses would total $1,000,000. Some other estimates were higher.

Mayor Hurley reported at 6:45 a. m. that "things were under control."

The devastating storm struck this lumber mill community at 5:45 p. m. yesterday. The business district escaped.

Hurley announced that convicts from Tucker Prison farm are being brought here to start the cleanup job. Bulldozers are being mobilized to help speed the task.

The storm climaxed a series of twisters that hop-skipped and dipped through northwest Louisiana and Arkansas late yesterday and last night. None of the others was as violent as the big, black cloud with a red funnel that bore down on Warren, with a population of 7,500, ninety miles south of Little Rock.

Two Persons Perish

Two persons perished near Haynesville, La., northeast of Shreveport, and a score or more was injured. Two dead and nearly a score injured was the toll of two storms near El Dorado, Ark., southwest of here and north of Haynesville.

The storm hit once more after leaving here, striking Dark Corner, northeast of Warren about an hour later. Two persons were hurt.

Lumber was splintered and showered over Warren. Dwellings were flattened.

Electric, gas and water lines were knocked out. Despite torrents of rain and hail, fires broke out and Mayor Hurley said several homes were destroyed by flames.

The search for bodies continued through the night while ambulances made round trips between here, Monticello, 18 miles to the east, and Pine Bluff, 40 miles to the north, carrying injured to hospitals and relieving congestion of two local clinics. The American Legion hut and the Y.M.C.A. were set up as emergency hospitals.

The Red Cross and Armed Forces sent in mobile kitchens and mobile first aid stations. Doctors and nurses came from Arkansas and Louisiana. Volunteers sped in blood plasma and relief agencies hurriedly began sending in emergency supplies.

All the dead were at one funeral home. A garage was being used for a temporary morgue.

National Guard units were mobilized to help state and local authorities in policing the stricken town. No looting had been reported.

Mayor Hurley estimated 15 to 20 per cent of the homes and buildings in the southern and eastern sections of Town were destroyed or damaged. The storm cut a swath one-half mile wide.

The tornado struck with little warning. G. H. King, a municipal employe, saw the smokestack at the Bradley Mill tumble to the ground, a store blown away and 30 to 40 houses smashed.

U.S. Marines Prepare to Quit Base

Half-Hearted Denial Is Made; the Report Called Premature by Spokesman

Outcry Is Made

Public in Shanghai Are Clamoring for Peace Negotiations

Shanghai, Jan. 4 (AP) — Vice Admiral Oscar C. Badger today denied American forces were being withdrawn from China.

Admiral Badger, commander of the Western Pacific Fleet, said the "rumors were based on reports U.S. Marines had terminated their lease on the Shantung University campus where they maintained their barracks."

Badger made his denial in a cabled statement from his Tsingtao base to the Associated Press in Shanghai.

His statement admitted discussions between the Chinese Ministry of Education and the Navy as to "the feasibility of returning the campus to the university for educational purposes."

The admiral said he ordered an end of the negotiations "upon learning these discussions were being used as a basis for withdrawal rumors."

Rumors Are Widespread

Shanghai, Jan. 4 (AP)—A loud public outcry for peace swelled over China today, but neither the government nor Communists took any concrete step to answer it.

A report from Tsingtao said U. S. Marines were preparing to pull out because peace talks were already underway.

There was some skepticism about withdrawal of American Marines. And there was no official support for the report peace talks had started.

Nanking heard rumors that Communists already have representatives in either Nanking or Shanghai. But these were generally discounted in the capital itself as wishful thinking.

Even government warplanes have joined the peace offensive, dropping leaflets on Red troops urging them to lay down their arms.

Communists, whose armies dominate the military scene, have made no reply to any of the flood of pleas that they initiate peace negotiations. The Nationalist government has made no move since Chiang Kai-shek's New Year's Day message. This expressed willingness to talk peace—on his terms.

A Tsingtao dispatch said some 3,000 United States Marines are leaving their barracks and boarding naval vessels in the harbor. It reported they were expected to withdraw from Tsingtao, anchorage of the U. S. Western Pacific fleet, before January 25.

American naval and diplomatic sources here denied Marines were preparing to leave China. But their denials were half-hearted.

One spokesman, who should be in a position to know, said:

"That report isn't wrong; it's just premature."

The Tsingtao report said "the reason officially given for the surprise move was that since the Chinese government has now decided to negotiate for peace settlement with the Reds, there is a good prospect for peace being restored and the presence of the Marines is no longer needed."

No Confirmation

There was no confirmation that peace talks were underway. New demands for peace came from Shanghai businessmen. And Communists were reported pressing for local negotiations to end the civil war in five northern provinces.

The Tsingtao report came from

Firemen Appoint Newkirk, Murphy

Citizens Advisory Group Will Be Appointed by Volunteers

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk was named honorary chairman of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Convention general committee and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy named parade marshal during a meeting of the general committee Monday night.

Peter Keresman, general chairman, presided at the meeting, which was the first meeting of the committee which will plan the volunteer firemen's convention to be held in this city during the last week-end in July.

Several other appointments were made by the general committee. Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was named secretary of the general committee. James L. Rowe was appointed chairman of the dinner committee; James E. Martin, chairman of the program committee; Morton Finch, in charge of refreshments, and Edwin L. Kolts, chairman of the badge committee.

A publicity committee was appointed, to consist of Louis R. Netter, Ira V. D. Warren and Claude Middaugh.

The general committee also voted to appoint a citizens advisory committee. This group according to Keresman, "will consist of outstanding men whose civic-mindedness has been well established by their whole-hearted cooperation in various aspects of civic affairs in our city. Public support of this convention is being sought in recognition of the important part volunteer firemen play in the reduction of life and property losses from fire."

Other appointments will be made at the next meeting of the general committee on January 31.

General committee members present at the meeting Monday night at the city hall were Mayor Newkirk, Chairman Keresman, Fire Chief Murphy, Vincent G. Connelly, treasurer, Albert Kurdt, secretary, Richard Riseley, Morton Finch, Raymond W. Radel, Edwin L. Kolts, Thomas T. Coughlin, James E. Martin, James L. Rowe, William Keating and Francis J. O'Neil. Those unable to be present were Frederick Harder, Henry F. Kelsch, Augustus J. Bunse, John N. Cordts and Morris Kalish.

Open House to Be RecreationFeature At B'way Center

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today that open house is being held at the recreation center on lower Broadway, Wednesday night because he and the recreation department are "vitally interested in getting adults acquainted with the center."

Furniture contributed by the local Lions Club has been received and arranged, and the downstairs section is completed in readiness for the open house program which begins at 8 p. m. A broadcast over the local radio station is scheduled between 8:30 and 9 p. m., and dancing will follow the opening part of the program with music by Floyd Dietz and his orchestra.

The main purpose of the open house, the mayor stressed, "is to give local taxpayers an opportunity to see where some of their money goes and to see the facilities made available for the use of the city."

Only children accompanied by their parents will be admitted, the mayor emphasized. Light refreshments will be served.

Hotel Tenants Get Until April 1 to Vacate Premises

Tenants in the United States Hotel at Broadway and Greenkill avenue have been notified they will have to vacate the premises by April 1, it was disclosed through the office of Harry G. Krom, county assistant engineer of the New York State Department of Public Works.

The hotel was purchased last year by New York State as the first step in acquiring the property necessary for the construction of the proposed Broadway railroad crossing elimination.

Windows on unoccupied rooms in the hotel are being boarded up

L.A. Gets New Low

Los Angeles, Jan. 4 (AP)—Temperatures skidded to an all-time low in Los Angeles today, and to 20 degrees in parts of the citrus district where the rich orange and lemon crop was threatened with heavy damage.

Los Angeles' official minimum was 27.9 degrees. In Redlands, heart of the citrus district, the reading at the key weather bureau station was 21.5 degrees.

It was an official 16 at Palmdale, on the desert north of here, and 22 at Palm Springs, which advertises itself as a warm winter resort.

Here the previous all-time low was 28.4 degrees on January 7, 1913.

Opener Is Viewed as Indication

President Will Deliver His State of Union Message Wednesday in Congress

No Trouble Likely

Committee Block Is Bypassed Because of Proposal

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—Signs of some unexpected Republican support for President Truman appeared on Capitol Hill today as the new 81st Congress ironed out organization details.

Mr. Truman will face the lawmakers tomorrow when he delivers his annual state of the Union message to a joint Senate-House session.

Developments in yesterday's opening session indicated clearly that Mr. Truman will have far less difficulty getting what he wants from Congress than he has had in the past.

He is expected to want just about everything contained in the platform adopted last summer by the Democratic National Convention.

Mr. Truman campaigned for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law and for passage of laws to provide housing, health and education aides, a higher minimum wage, firmer farm price supports and protection of minority groups against discrimination.

With both Senate and House in recess until tommorow, members of the Democratic majority and the Republican minority were trying to interpret an opening-day livers his annual State of the House vote, which, on its face, indicated that President Truman may have a lot of Republican support in the new Congress.

That vote was on an administration-backed proposal to curb the power of the House Rules Committee, on which in the past a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats has blocked major legislation wanted by the President. The same coalition was a distinct possibility again this year, especally with regard to legislaton to repeal the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

So Truman Democrats backed a change to make it easier to get around a Rules Committee roadblock. They proposed that anytime a legislative committee approves a bill and the Rules Committee doesn't clear it for a House vote within 21 days, the chairman of the Legislative Committee can force action.

He can do it simply by making, and getting carried, on the second or fourth Monday of any month, a motion to bring the blocked bill before the House. The new rule requires the speaker to recognize the chairman for that purpose.

Since most House chairmen are administration Democrats, the party leadership expects no trouble with rules committee bottlenecks. Normally, the leadership tells committee chairmen when and how to move.

Regardless of a decision by their party steering committee to fight the rule change, 49 Republicans went along with the Truman Democrats in support of the bottleneck-breaking plan. It was carried by a 275 to 142 vote. These 49 Republicans more than offset the 31 southern and border-state Democrats who refused to buck the change.

The result was that, in the first test of strength in the new House, there was not a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats in control, but a union of Truman Democrats and Republicans in the saddle.

Success Is Seen

Democratic Floor Leader McCormack of Massachusetts called it "a decided step in the direction of the House carrying out President Truman's program."

Republican leaders wouldn't comment for the record on the biggest break from discipline in recent years.

But one of them said privately, "It looks like some of the boys are afraid of last November's election results."

It was the November election that tossed Republicans out of control of Congress.

After the vote, President Truman paid a "social visit" to Speaker Rayburn and other congres-

Dewey and Regents Stand Firm in Ideas Regarding State Aid; Hold Long Conference

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 4 (AP)—Governor Dewey and the Board of Regents stood their ground today in their clash over how much state aid to education should be increased.

On the eve of the opening of the 172nd Annual Session of the Legislature, the Regents continued their demand for $41,600,000 more than the governor proposes to raise the appropriations for public schools.

Dewey has implied the 1949-50 education budget will be boosted only $40,000,000 from its present $154,000,000—this to meet mandated additional aid resulting from increased pupil population.

He and the Regents, ruling body of the State's Educational System, conferred for three and one-half hours yesterday without reaching anything resembling a compromise agreement.

State aid for education is one of the outstanding issues facing the Republican-controlled legislature.

The Regents last month recommended $23,6000,000 in state aid above the $40,000,000 Dewey had said would be mandated by the Feinberg Law. The Regents' proposal would include $18,000,000 for teacher salary boosts.

Their December 17 statement of "major educational needs" also urged $18,000,000 for school construction.

It included, too, criticism of the 1948 State University Law which takes from the Regents administrative control of 31 state-aided colleges next April 1 and vests it with the State University System's Board of Trustees. The Regents asked that transfer of control be delayed until the need for it was proven.

Dewey told a news conference after his meeting with eight of the 13-member Board of Regents that the Regents had pointed up the "technical problems of administration involved."

He said the board had "agreed to discuss it further with the Board of Trustees in hopes of reaching an agreement."

However, when questioned about such a meeting, Regents Chancellor William J. Wallin told a reporter: "Our statement (of December 17) stands and will not be modified."

He said the Regents would discuss the matter with the trustees to ascertain if the trustees could

Senate Republican Group Still Planning to Fight

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—Balking Republicans threatened today to carry on their fight against Senator Taft of Ohio by actively opposing any Senate leadership proposals they don't like.

Taft was in the saddle as chairman of the G.O.P. Policy Committee by 24 to 14 vote of confidence given him yesterday by the 42-member Republican caucus.

But some of the 14 insurgents who took the short end of the ballot served blunt notice today the scrapping isn't all over.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, defeated by Taft, keynoted their viewpoint. Said he:

"I think this is the beginning of a real movement backed by public opinion to impel forward motion to the Republican Party and make it a really effective part of our two-party system."

Senator Morse of Oregon, who has called himself and his rebelling colleagues "Liberals," blasted Taft as "a symbol of reaction and defeatism for the Republican Party."

Morse predicted at least 13 of the 14 who voted for Lodge "will continue to stand united as a general policy in fighting for a modern, forward looking program for the Republican Party."

While there were signs the Republican split might spill over to the Senate floor on major issues, Senator Ives of New York said he expects most of the scrapping

U.S. Marines . . .

the Associated Press' local correspondent. He said Vice Admiral Oscar C. Badger, commander of the Western Pacific Fleet, would continue to maintain his base in Tsingtao.

The correspondent's report said Marine authorities notified National Shantung University they were vacating their quarters on the campus they had leased since V-J Day. Buildings were to be turned back to the university by January 21. Some navy quarters in Shanghai said the order pertained merely to evacuation of shopkeepers and concessionaires from the buildings.

The announcement touched off a series of rumors in Tsingtao. One was that Communists, who control most of Shantung peninsula, were preparing for a large scale attack on the Tsingtao area, and Marines did not want to get involved. Another was that the U. S. government has accepted a request of the Chinese government that it mediate a settlement of the civil war.

Surprise Expressed

(State Department officials in Washington expressed surprise at the Tsingtao development, but said Admiral Badger has authority to pull out of the Tsingtao anchorage.)

Sources in Shanghai said they had heard no such report officially, but said it would not be surprising. Some 600 marines are at Shanghai, quartered aboard the transport Bayfield. They said they had heard nothing about leaving China. There are about 5,000 marines in China, of which 4,800 are in the western Pacific fleet marine force. Small detachments are with U. S. diplomatic offices in various cities.

Meanwhile the U. S. naval advisory unit at Canton folded up today. Its commander Robert E. Lockwood left Canton by naval plane for Shanghai. Withdrawal of this small local unit had been expected for some time.

A new wave of peace demands, touched off yesterday by the powerful Shanghai city council, brought a new series of demands and offers today.

Shanghai's "Self Aid and National Salvation Federation" invited the Nationals and Communists to send representatives to Shanghai for peace talks. The association was formed a month ago to protect vital Shanghai industries and public utilities if local authority should break down.

It sent identical messages to President Chiang Kai-shek in Nanking and to Communist Leader Mao Tse-Tung in Yenan. The messages emphasized civil war is "crippling the country." They proposed "preliminary talks in Shanghai where more facilities, including foreign observers, are available than elsewhere."

Also hopping on the peace bandwagon were 300 college professors in Shanghai and Nanking, and the North China Provincial Council in Peiping.

Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa reported from Peiping that well informed quarters said Communists were pressing North China Nationalist Gen. Fu Tso-yi through devious channels to make his own peace with them. These sources denied a rumor the Reds were threatening an attack on Peiping itself.

General Fu said the Communists have about 75,000 men around Peiping. He said he wants to safeguard the city as a cultural center, but that if the Reds attack he will resist.

Joe played second base on the practice team of the New York Giants in the early 1900s and played professional basketball, in the old New York State League.

Committee Plans To Replace Home Razed by Flames

Woodstock, Jan. 4—A building committee to include David Van de Bogart, Arthur Barone and Frielan Van de Bogart was appointed Monday evening at a meeting in the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club when 50 persons were present to discuss plans and offer their services for building a house to replace that of Augus May, Wittenberg, whose home was completely destroyed by fire in the early hours Sunday morning.

Following the meeting it was learned that Allen Waterous had given the use of his house, located next to the Wittenberg school, to the May family for occupancy until their new house is ready. Furniture donated to the family will be picked up today by Nelson Shultis.

As soon as work of cleaning away the debris of the burned house is completed, the volunteer workmen will go ahead with the new structure. The clearing up project got under way today.

Will Draw Plans

The newly-appointed building committee will draw up plans for a seven-room frame house and these will be submitted to August May for approval before going ahead with the building. May was unable to attend last night's meeting at the Sportsmen's Club because of burns, frostbite and general shock which he suffered while rescuing his wife and eight children from the blazing house Sunday and in fighting the fire single handed until the fire department arrived on the scene.

More than two truck loads of clothing kept 10 ladies busy Monday evening when they met at the club to sort and arrange the articles according to size.

Truly Thankful

When they learned of their good fortune, Mr. and Mrs. May were speechless as tears of gratitude and appreciation poured down their cheeks. And then from Mrs. May, "I am so overwhelmed by everybody's kindness. I never knew we had so many friends. We haven't had time to think about misfortune as the telephone has been ringing constantly and bringing news of more and more things for us. We want everybody to know how much we appreciate all that is being done for us. We are truly thankful."

Mr. May, a carpenter with a fine reputation for being a good workman, will supervise the rebuilding of the house, it is understood. All labor will be furnished by the volunteers as will the rough lumber necessary for the job. The building committee hopes that funds being donated will be sufficient to purchase finished lumber, plumbing and electrical supplies, etc. Floyd Stone is handling the cash donations but the amount received so far was not available at the time of the meeting.

Approaches Jerusalem

Jerusalem, Jan. 4 (AP)—A single, unidentified aircraft approached Jerusalem before dawn today, causing an air raid alarm. No incidents were reported.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—A slow-moving rally got under way in the stock market after yesterday's drop.

Traces of early uncertainty persisted but on the average prices were a bit higher. Individual issues moved up fractions to around a point, in many cases after small early declines.

Trading was unusually slow and at a rate which would bring the day's total to well below the 1,000,000-share mark.

Traders were evidently in no hurry to do much until they hear what the President has to say to Congress on the state of the Union.

A couple of gold stocks were well in front of the market. McIntyre Porcupine and Dome Mines showed gains of more than a point on slim volume.

Higher in the curb were northern States Power, Raytheon Mfg., Salt Dome Oil, Singer Mfg., American Light, Cities Service, and Goodman Mfg. Cosden Petroleum and Creole Petroleum declined.

Sailing Is Postponed

Southampton, Eng., Jan. 4 (AP)—Sailing of the damaged liner Queen Mary for New York was postponed today for another 24 hours. A Cunard Line official said the decision not to sail was made because a 120-ton temporary concrete patch deep in the hull of the 81,235-ton vessel had not hardened sufficiently. More than 200 workmen had labored all night to put in the repair job in an area of strained and loosened rivets, damaged when the giant ship ran aground at Cherbourg Saturday. The Mary now is three days behind schedule. If it gets off tomorrow it should reach New York next Monday.

Changes Are Asked

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of colored people has called again for changes in some congressional rules. The group's annual meeting yesterday urged the Senate to ban what the N.A.A.C.P. called "anti-democratic filibusters" and the House to remove "poll-tax congressmen" from control of important committees. A resolution, adopted shortly after the new Congress opened, said "abolition of archaic procedural rules" is a "first obligation" toward enactment of civil rights measures.

Chambers, confessed ex-courier for a Red spy ring and key figure in the grand jury investigation, may be recalled today.

O'Toole also introduced the No. 2 House bill, to provide an official residence for the vice president.

Chamber Reports 122 Ballots in For Directors

One hundred and twenty-two ballots were received this morning, the first day of returns for the election of seven directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. All votes received or postmarked on or before Saturday will be counted on Monday, Jan. 10, by the election committee.

The slate of 15 nominees from which seven are to be elected include, Robert E. Teetsel, Lawrence J. MacAvery, Byron S. Chatham, Edwin L. Davey, Victor H. Roth, Elmer A. Rylance, Benjamin N. Ashton, J. Ellis Briggs, Joseph E. Honig, Addison Jones, A. J. P. Seitz, Emil G. Boessneck, James P. Byrne, Eugene B. Carey and Harry duBois Frey.

Those elected will be promptly notified and invited to attend the regular January meeting of the Chamber board of directors on Wednesday evening, January 12. Clarence Rowland, acting president, stated today that this will be a very important meeting. The old board of directors will complete the final steps of incorporating the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and the newly constituted board will then convene and organize for 1949. This includes the election of a president, three vice-presidents, and a treasurer, as well as three members of the executive committee. The new president will then appoint new committees for 1949.

Truman Might

sional leaders in Rayburn's private Capitol office. Whether intended or not, one result of the meeting could be to solidify the new relationship between the White House and the Capitol. It took place in the room where Mr. Truman was notified April 12, 1945, of the death of President Roosevelt, which put him in the White House.

Following up their smashing floor victory, the Democratic leadership turned its attention to the job of seeing to it that committees in Senate and House are largely made up of men who can be counted on to go along with administration bills.

In the House, the Democratic Committee on Committees, which passes out the assignments, was expected to maneuver John E. Rankin (D-Miss.) off the Un-American Activities group. The Committee on Committees is dominated by Truman Democrats. Its assignment recommendations, subject to approval of the full party membership, are not expected to be completed for at least a week.

To get at Rankin, the committee is expected to lay down a policy that the chairman of one committee cannot be a member of another. Rankin is in line to head the Veterans' Affairs Committee. He already is a member of the Un-American Activities group.

Rankin called yesterday for action to make the Federal Bureau of Investigation an independent agency; it is now part of the Justice Department. Rankin said that if the F.B.I. is given proper authority there wouldn't be so much need for the Un-American Activities Committee.

Abolition now of the committee was called for by Rep. Javits (R-N. Y.) and Rep. Davenport (D-Pa.).

Administration leaders meanwhile proposed a new code for congressional investigations, as an outgrowth of complaints about the Un-American Activities group.

Under this proposed code, a person who believes that testimony before a congressional committee has damaged his reputation could: File a statement of his own, testify personally, call and examine witnesses and cross-examine any adverse witness. Cross-examination would be limited to an hour; it could be done personally or through counsel.

Woodstock Artist

search of the area throughout the morning came upon the body at about 11:45 a. m.

Authorities said the body was not submerged and that the arms were extended upward with the coat over the head and one arm caught on the branch of the tree.

Friends and neighbors of the artist said he was last seen in the village at about 11 p. m. Thursday night. Mrs. Ault, who is a writer, left for New York Thursday morning to visit a publisher, friends said, and when she returned later in the week, she found her husband was not at home.

Authorities were notified after Mrs. Ault made inquiries in the village and a state police teletype message with a description of the artist was sent out Monday.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly of this city, was notified and said that death was by drowning.

The artist who has lived in Woodstock for the past several years, has been an exhibitor in several important galleries of the nation, including the annual Carnegie show, and he has won important recognition for several years.

The body was turned over to Victor N. Lasher, Woodstock undertaker.

The resolution did not specify how the investigation would be conducted. A House labor subcommittee recommended last fall that 11 present and former Local 301 members be cited for contempt of Congress for refusing to say whether they were Communists.

Marriage Service Termed Voidable

Los Angeles, Jan. 4 (AP)—Four-year-old Marjoe Gortner's first marriage service is "voidable," rules Ray Dowds, assistant Los Angeles county counsel.

The question has been debated since Sunday, when the Rev. Gortner, who won't be five until Jan. 14, married navy storekeeper Raymond Miller, 23, and Alma Brown, 21, in a Long Beach, Calif. chapel.

Dowds whose opinion was asked by County Clerk W. G. Sharp, said yesterday it is certain the Legislature in enacting the marriage law meant an ordained minister to be sufficiently old to carry on the business of a minister.

"I am sure," he added, "any court would hold a child of this age to be incompetent to be a minister in this sense."

Young Marjoe was ordained a minister last October of the Church of the Old Time Faith, which is incorporated under California law.

Several judges have questioned the legality of the marriage. And some clergymen voiced criticism over permitting a child to perform the rite.

Western Powers Demand Count of Prisoners of War

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Western Powers, in a sharp counterblow to Communist propaganda charges, have demanded an exact count of German war prisoners still held in the Soviet Union.

Under a four-power agreement, all prisoners of war were to have been sent home by the end of 1948. Russia has been claiming many former German soldiers are being held as phony "volunteer" workers in the western zones of Germany.

The United States, France and Britain gave their answer to that charge yesterday.

The State Department announced a note had been delivered to Moscow asking (a) how many prisoners of war still are in Russia; (b) what the Soviet union plans to do about returning them to Germany; and (c) how many have died in captivity.

The Soviet news Agency Tass replied in a broadcast from the Russian capital that an "overwhelming majority" of the German prisoners have seen sent home, and added:

"The repatriation of the remainder is proceeding according to the plan adopted by the Soviet government and is to be completed during 1949."

Allied and German sources estimate that more than 200,000 prisoners of war remain in Russian hands.

While Tass repeated the charges that the western nations have refused to release "a large number of German prisoners of war in guise of wage labor," the State Department noted that the last German war prisoner held by the United States actually was freed by mid-1947, aside from a handful in hospitals or absent without leave.

Britain and France have given similar assurances.

RADIO GIVE-AWAYS

As if the average American didn't live under enough tensions, trying to keep pace with inflation, foreign wars and such, it comes to mind that modern radio has added a new peril to the complications of everyday living.

We speak of the institution of radio give-away programs. Nowadays, every American—every one with a telephone, that is—lives in the constant jeopardy that he may be called by a radio give-away program, be offered fabulous fortune for answering a few questions, and find himself unprepared.

There is also the added peril that he may actually be able to recite for fame and fortune and yet be pre-emptorily barred from doing so because of being disconnected by some distant telephone operator. This is the unkindest cut-off of all, and has in recent weeks led to some hard feeling against telephone and broadcasting companies.

Now this shaky give-away precipice on which Americans exist is not entirely bad. For one thing, it puts a new and more immediate value on education for our young. There was a time when Junior couldn't quite see the percentage in piling up stores of information, such as: "All Gaul is divided into three parts . . ." (or was during Caesar's time), wormed laboriously from the Latin pony.

Now, thanks to radio's incentive, all this has been changed. Junior has but to twirl the dial at random any evening to hear dumb-Johns and Janes raking in electric washers, trips to Bermuda, lifetime supplies of breakfast food, dog food and ball point pens, to be convinced of the value, here and now of adequate and readily available knowledge.

One anguished housewife's moan that she just doesn't know who was the last president before William Howard Taft to wear a beard is proof positive that one should commit to memory not only the names and birthplaces and dates of all presidents, but also their facial appearances, middle names, outstanding peculiarities such as warts or harelips, and any other data that might conceivably pop into the fertile brains of those geniuses who devise the quizzes.

Thus, as each new burden on mankind has its compensations, so has this peril of the radio give-away. So far the system has broken very few people completely. And think of all the persons it has either made rich beyond their wildest calculations, or at least provided with some new aluminumware. And, in the realm of intangibles, think of the hope, the extra and immeasurable hope, which the give-away adds to "the American dream" of getting ahead.

Let us brace ourselves, then, for the worst—for either the tragic possibility that we may not know when quizzed, or that, knowing, we may even yet be thwarted by a chance pulling of a plug in a remote telephone switchboard. And strong in the knowledge that someday our call may come—and remain connected—face the future with fortitude.

Hundreds of people in this country are "fighting against inertia", but some of them not very hard.

BARGAIN SALES

The general opinion of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association is that the retail goods market, as reflected in post-Christmas sales over the country as a whole, is returning to a normal condition. The bargain sales, in general, are called comparable to those of years when goods were abundant.

This opinion applies to the supply of goods in relation to demand, and does not attempt to judge the price level. Most people think of prices as being too high. The question that puzzles manufacturers and sellers is how much too high prices may be. Doubtless a new idea of normal price levels will be formed, when economic affairs settle. There are all kinds of predictions as to what this normal level will be, none of which seems any better than the others.

If the price level becomes lower, the result may be increased demand, followed by more periods of adjusting supply to demand. But in any case the time-honored bargain sale seems to have returned, which no doubt is welcome news to the shopper, if not to the store clerk.

How does the weatherman always manage to surprise everyone with the first heavy storm of winter?

THE MAKING OF HISTORY

Miss Kay Summersby, in her book, "Eisenhower Was My Boss," blithely adds footnotes to history of the greatest value in appraising what happened during the war. Her account of the German surrender will be used by historians for many years as basic material. And it is to be remembered that the O.W.I. and other propaganda agencies gave an obviously untrue account. I can see no reason why anyone employed by the American people should not tell his employers the whole truth. To what elite did these bureaucrats belong that they regarded themselves superior to their employers?

Well, Kay Summersby was around when the Germans surrendered to Eisenhower. We should have marched into Berlin and Vienna and the history of the world would have been diffrent. At that moment the Russians demanded that the whole thing must start over again; that the Germans must again surrender in Berlin. Here's how Kay Summersby describes the scene:

"General Eisenhower messaged Moscow he would be delighted to go to Berlin for a formal surrender ceremony. Then the Prime Minister began calling; Beetle (Smith) was in and out a dozen times; other staff members added to the pressure—General Eisenhower shouldn't participate in the Berlin surrender. His advisers' principal objection was one of military protocol: Marshal Zhukov was only an army group commander, far below the rank of a general of the army. 'Western pride and face' were at stake. This and other reasons brought the supreme commander to agreement; he sent another message to Moscow, noting that his deputy, Air Chief Marshal Tedder, would repesent Britain and America at the Berlin sessions."

Ed Kennedy of the Associated Press scooped the world by telling the truth. Miss Summersby puts it this way:

". . . Aside from his understandable anger, General Eisenhower was hurt. He had taken the press into his confidence throughout the campaigns from Africa to Germany, often against conscientious military advice and he was proud his confidence always had been justified. Now, at the time when it mattered most, the AP man had shown a complete disregard for that confidence."

It never occurrde to her or her boss that Kennedy's obligation was to his readers and that neither Eisenhower nor anyone else had a legal or moral right to fake the surrender. The Germans had surrendered. That closed the war.

The lady's description of the Berlin surrender should have been set to Victor Herbert's music. It was comic opera from beginning to end. Then apparently they all settled down to a big drunk. Listen to her:

"Taking my seat, I blanched at the liquid artillery before each place: bottles of champagne, red wine, white wine, and—the Soviet secret weapon—vodka.

"The Russian General across from me smiled encouragingly, then made peace overtures with a crazy combination of textbook French and pidgin English.

"Great arc lights suddenly snapped on, flooding the room with a brilliant glare. I noticed a movie camera in one corner, not all the equipment had been removed, as I thought upon entering; part of this scene was to be preserved for Russian posterity.

"The first of the coming barrage of toasts was proposed, naturally, by Zhukov, to, naturally, Premier Stalin. We waited awkwardly for the English interpretation by a Russian officer, then the Soviets all performed a bottoms-up, followed by their western allies. I used champagne. Later, I degenerated to water; even champagne, at that pace, could be disastrous.

"For almost four hours, the entire assemblage spent its time hearing toasts proposed and interpreted, then bottoms-upped. The head table seemed to be in a perpetual uproar, as Zhukov, Tedder, Spaatz, and De Tassigny each jumped up to outdo the others in flowery toasts from their respective four nations. Piles of hors d'oeuvres appeared periodically, consumed methodically by the Russians. There were other dishes, too; no one noticed them. After each toast, the Soviet women refilled every glass. I reached an understanding with my waitress; she winked as I refilled with water."

At 5 a. m., the party went ga-ga. ". . . The majority of the banquet guests were drunk, good-old fashioned drunk. Among the few survivors still afloat were Zhukov, who didn't drink. . . ."

Well, there is the record and the lady was an eye-witness.

That Body of Yours

CAUSES OF SCIATICA

Physicians and surgeons who treat cases of sciatica state that about three of every four cases are caused by infection, and the other one is due to injury.

Of those due to infection, the teeth, tonsils, gall bladder and large intestine are the most vulnerable. By removal of the infection, patients with sciatica and low back pain (often present) gradually obtain relief from pain within a few weeks or months.

In cases of sciatica caused by injury—a fall, a misstep, severe strain—a protruding disk (the cushion between the bones forming the spinal column) is the commonest cause. Where there is a history of a fall or other injury, injecting a dye into the spinal canal and then obtaining a film of the dye by X-ray reveals the protruding disk and also sometimes other injuries or changes.

Because sciatica and low back pain may be caused by both infection and injury, sometimes in the same patients, it is the usual practice in some hospitals to have these patients put to bed and given a good rest for days or even weeks. Where some rheumatic condition is present as shown by the bone and joint changes and revealed by X-rays, the usual medical treatment, together with heat and very light massage, is given.

The usual medicine, acetyl salicylic acid, together with the heat application, so relaxes the parts that the pressure causing the sciatica is removed and the patient recovers without other forms of treatment. Complete rest and relaxation by use of special pillows and mattresses is of great comfort to the patient. The relaxation seems to loosen tight ligaments or other structures causing pressure on the sciatica nerve or its branches. In cases where dye injection and X-ray reveal disk protrusion or other injury, an operation is performed; but even in these cases medical and physical treatment is first given to put the patient in good condition to undergo the operation.

Remember, generally speaking low back pain and sciatica are caused by infection in most cases; so unless an injury is present, the cause of infection should first be sought.

"We Make a Deal, Huh?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington — Suggestion to Democratic House leaders: Two of the most efficient tools of the real estate lobby in the late-lamented 80th Congress were Congressmen Charles Fletcher of San Diego (Rep.) and John Riley of Sumter, S. C. (Dem.).

Cleverly placed on the banking and currency committee by the real estate lobby, these two tipped the balance against the public housing bill — a defeat which helped contribute to Mr. Truman's re-election.

These real estate Congressmen have now been defeated by two up-and-coming young Democrats who campaigned on this same issue—public housing. They are: Hugo Sims of Orangeburg, S. C. and Clinton McKinnon of San Diego. The real estate lobby is already pulling strings to keep them off the Banking and Currence Committee. How about showing the lobby how the 81st Congress stands by putting them on?

Atomic Radiation Near New York

Atomic scientists and weather experts have teamed up to prevent another Donora smog tragedy just outside New York city. They are working on ways to protect the ten million residents of Long Island and New York city from possible exposure to deadly atomic radiation.

It's not the bomb that worries the scientists, but the deadly waste gases that will be discharged into the air beginning this spring when the world's most powerful atomic pile goes into action at Brookhaven, Long Island—only 50 miles from New York city.

The scientists have noted that under certain wind and atmospheric conditions even the lightest smoke will emerge from a chimney and settle to the ground. If the radioactive gases from the new atomic pile were to blow down instead of up and hover close to the earth in a densely populated area, the result might be tragic.

To avoid any possible danger from this direction, Dr. Lyle Borst, noted physicist in charge of the new pile, called on the experts of the U. S. Weather Bureau for assistance.

Today the two groups of scientists—atomic and weather—are exploring every angle of low-level weather conditions. They feel that if they can learn enough about what makes smoke go down instead of up they'll then be able to foresee the approach of dangerous atmospheric conditions. As one scientist put it: "When we finish our research, all the smoke and fumes that leave the Brookhaven pile will go in one direction, up—and they'll keep on going up."

Note: Weathermen think that the research under way at Brookhaven may go a long way in preventing tragedies due to industrial smoke. They're thinking of Donora's recent smog victims.

Forrestal vs. Forrestal

Senators who are studying Defense Secretary Forrestal's demand for sweeping power over the secretaries for air, army, and navy, can't help remembering one thing which the public may have forgot. The James Forrestal who now demands such sweeping power is the very same James Forrestal who, with his Wall Street partner, wrote the national defense setup which he now complains about.

Senators are also inclined to believe that when a man fails at a job important to the national security, he should not get a second chance to make another failure.

Actually, Forrestal is the victim of his own lobbying.

When President Truman, as a result of his senatorial work on the Truman Committee, proposed unification of the army and navy, Forrestal, then secretary of the navy, waged a vigorous, poorly concealed campaign against it.

Forrestal's campaign was so successful that he was finally asked what combination of the armed forces would suit him; so he brought in his old Wall Street partner, Ferdinand Eberstadt, to draft the answer. The compromise he drafted was called the "Eberstadt Plan."

This loose-knit regrouping of the army, navy, and air forces was what Congress eventually bought and is in effect today. In it Forrestal and Eberstadt purposely set up the loose controls which Forrestal now complains about.

Eberstadt Reviews Eberstadt

Later, Herbert Hoover, charged with the job of reorganizing the executive branch of the government, called Eberstadt back and asked him to head the committee reviewing the success of unification. There was considerable protest against this inside the Hoover Commission, for it violated a well-founded American principle that a man should not sit as judge in reviewing his own decisions.

That principle was discarded, however, and Mr. Hoover decreed that Eberstadt should sit as judge to decide if his own unification plan was working. The result was as could be expected.

Eberstadt found little wrong with the Eberstadt plan.

Eberstadt and Jim Forrestal have fought many battles shoulder-to-shoulder. They were not only partners in Dillon Read and Company back in the days when their firm poured millions into Germany, but they were partners in backing the military in the struggle against civilians in the War Production Board.

This time, however, Forrestal quietly split with his old partner, his plea last week for far-reaching power over the secretaries for air, navy and army shows the extent of the split. In making it he asked for violation of another long-standing American rule: When a man fails at a job important to the security of the nation, he does not get a chance to make another failure.

Merry-Go-Round

Congress is slated to lose one of its ablest members when Herman Eberharter of Pittsburgh (Democrat) becomes a federal judge, replacing U. S. District Judge Robert M. Gibson. . . . U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson of Texas has sent an urgent appeal to Washington for a private judicial washroom to be installed in the Jefferson, Tex., courthouse. . . Credit Congressman Chet Holifield of Los Angeles with being vindicated when he stood up for atomic scientist Edward Condon last year at a time when it took courage to do so. Now, members of the Un-American Activities Committee admit they were unfair to Condon. . . . President Truman still is harboring an ardent Deweyite near him in the Treasury Department. Arthur Gardner, assistant to Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder, didn't want to contribute to the Republicans personally so his wife did the contributing instead. On election night the Gardners held a celebration party which didn't turn out to be such a celebration, after all. . . . Ex-Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia may have to leave his job as head of the Independent Motion Picture Producers in Hollywood. President Truman is considering him for a cabinet post.

Democratic 'Oldsters' Will Head Committees of Both Houses; Age Seems No Barrier

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 4—"The grand old men" of the Democratic Party who were voted into power by the American people at the November election will soon be in control of the all-important committees of both Houses of Congress.

Almost every important committee will have as its chairman a senator or representative over 70 years of age. In some instances, men of 80 or over will be in command.

The headline writes invented the initials "G.O.P." to abbreviate the words "Grand Old Party," as the Republicans have been known for decades. Now there is a chance for a rival set of initials—the "G.O.M.," as the 81st Congress can readily be identified.

In both parties youth seems to have been brushed aside, for even a rebellion of young Republicans failed to upset the older leadership.

In the House of Representatives, the Democratic majority is getting ready to copy an old idea of the Republicans. Back in the early part of the century, Representative Joe Cannon of Illinois, as the speaker of the House in successive Republican Congresses, held autocratic power by his own interpretation of the rules. It was in 1910 that a coalition of Progressive Republicans and Progressive Democrats overrode the Republican regulars in the middle of the session and forced a liberalization of the rules of the house.

Today the Democrats, elected by a mandate which they consider gives them the right to do as they please in the matter of rules of the House, are planning to go back to the days of Joe Cannon and make the speaker the virtual "czar" of the House, as he used to be called in the old days.

The Republican rebels tried to upset custom and seniority in the Senate but not a sign or symtom of revolt has come from the Democratic side, where the aging chairmen are to come back into power by reason of their right of seniority.

It's a hard rule to upset. Any member of a labor union prizes seniority, based on length of service, and members of Congress are similarly fond of their seniority. Before the American people last November elected the Democratic Party to control of Congress, they were told during the campaign about the chairmanship and seniority situation but did not take it to heart.

The committees in the Senate over which chairmen 70 years or older will preside are foreign relations, finance, agriculture, appropriations, banking and currency, and judiciary, respectively.

In the House men of 70 years or more will preside as chairmen of the committees on foreign affairs, rules, ways and means, and banking and currency, respectively.

The customary retirement age in industry is 65, and if the other committee chairman of 65 or over were included, it would further justify the appellation of "grand old men" for the 81st Congress.

Mr. Truman will be 65 in 1949 and throughout most of his new term will be beyond the age of normal retirement.

Representative Rayburn of Texas, new speaker of the House, is 66 years old. Senator McKellar, who is to be President Pro Tempore of the Senate, is 79 years of age. And, of course, Senator Barkley, vice-president elect—most vigorous of them all—is 71 years old.

So the grand old men—or "elder statesmen"—are now in control of legislation and the 81st Congress has before it the heaviest legislative program any Congress has faced in peacetime.

There are serious divisions inside both the Republican and Democratic parties, due to the feeling of younger Democrats and younger Republicans that they should have more of a voice in party councils. But the men with seniority are very much alike irrespective of party. Committee chairmen, especially those who preside over the powerful committees in Congress, do not like to relinquish their power.

The committee chairman decides when meetings are convened and controls the proceedings. Unless a bill can be gotten out of a committee, it cannot get acted on by the entire membership of the House or Senate. Hence, committee chairmen are little Czars.

The interesting thing is that, as men are re-elected and serve longer and longer, they look on seniority as a matter of vested right. It certainly is an undemocratic way to run the people's Legislature and it keeps able men from rising to positions they deserve. Furthermore, it increases the chances of individuals negating the will of the people who may want to see action on important bills which committee chairmen leave to slumber in pigeonholes.

But with all the talk of "Liberalism" and "New Deals," there isn't a murmur from the Democratic side about abolishing seniority, though outside of Congress Progressives for years have been clamoring for abolition of this artificial device.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I recently advised students in high schools and colleges to take no propaganda from the teachers on the subject of unionism. Put up with no assumptions in favor of unions. Make the teachers prove everything. The term "labor leader" for union boss is one of the most pernicious deceptions.

All citizens should be careful to reject the same impositions in editorials. Some editorial propaganda is intentional but I feel that much of it is just the product of carelessness and habit.

However, the New York Times is neither careless nor tired and when the Times uses the needle in an editorial on unionism, you know the Times is up to something. The Times is capable of that. It is an old and clever hand at slipping the customers motivated stuff that seems as innocent as prattle. Because it is a rich paper the Times is commonly regarded as a conservative, even reactionary, publication. It is nothing of the kind. It has been a New Deal paper most of the way and the unemotional front is a deceptive coloration.

A few days ago, David Dubinsky's union, the International Ladies' Garment Workers, published a "plan" to slip a substitute act in between the present Taft-Hartley Law and the Wagner Act.

The head on the Times editorial said "Blueprint from Labor."

There goes that needle!

This union is not "labor" nor even of "labor." It is a private, monopolistic cult ruled with iron authority by a few heavy-handed bosses who put up with no monkey business from either employers or rank and file. They decide what is best for the members. In a great show of benevolence at a summer camp maintained at the expense of the rank and file, Dubinsky and the other bosses enjoy royal or noble status. Big shots. The humble subjects keep their distance. It is a great place for showing-off purposes. Rugged labor leader shows human side relaxing with rank and file.

This union, privileged by the Wagner Act and the Taft-Hartley Act, as well, cultivated and propitiated by presidents, congressmen, mayors and governors, regularly taxes the earnings of American citizens who are not members. Citizens who reject membership. It taxes them for a vacation fund of which they receive no share.

It makes contractors pay

Q—Does the pole star change?

A—Yes. Owing to an effect called precession of the equinoxes the point in the sky directly over the north pole shifts in a circle among the stars. The star in the little dipper which we call the pole star is merely a transient occupant of that post. In the future we will have other pole stars.

French to Probe Federal Spending

Paris, Jan. 4 (AP)—The French government began today an investigation of spending by several government ministries after auditors alleged misuse of funds.

The auditors' report for 1946-47 said several billion francs were spent to no definite purpose or on furnishings or food.

Some French newspapers said there was a "government scandal" in spending. The government of Premier Henri Queuille was not responsible for the period under review. But several of the present ministers held office during the period.

The investigation was suggested by the National Assembly.

The report said military requisitions had been made for wines, liquors and civilian clothing. It said the number of automobiles in use by government departments had been greatly increased. It alleged special jobs were created for no useful purpose, and funds were allotted for fictitious operations.

Tragedy Strikes Party

Shanghai, Jan. 4 (AP)—Two newlyweds and 11 guests to their wedding feast were killed today when a bus fell through a wooden bridge near Shanghai. The Chinese wedding party was en route to nearby Taichang, the hometown of the bridegroom, Paoshiao-peng. When they reached the rickety old bridge, the driver suggested they lighten the bus by walking across. They refused. The bus broke the bridge in two. Only the driver escaped.

Atomic Project Is Being Cleared

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—The super-secret Los Alamos Atomic Energy project is getting an administrative house cleaning, spurred on by criticism in Congress.

After the House Expenditures Committee reported finding "waste and extravagance" in operation of the New Mexico atomic city—including use of counter-espionage funds for "entertainment"— the Atomic Energy Commission said it was in the process of correcting "most of the items" mentioned.

Promising "serious consideration" of a sub-committee's recommendations, an A.E.C. spokesman said "it is felt that, in general, the tenor of the report is helpful and constructive."

The committee report was issued yesterday.

In a footnote to the report, Rep. Manasco (D.-Ala.), one of the Congressional investigators, said he thought the A.E.C. was "doing a good job in getting things corrected."

Delegation Tops All in Congress

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—New York's 45-member House delegation—largest in the Congress, took the oath of office Monday with three members not present.

They were Anthony F. Tauriello and Chester C. Gorski, both Democratic newcomers from Buffalo, and Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R.), Bath.

There was no immediate explanation for their absence. They can take their oaths of office at their first appearance on the floor of the House.

The delegation, which now contains 23 Democrats, 20 Republicans and one member of the American Labor Party, lists one vacancy—that caused by the recent death of Rep. John J. Delaney (D.), of Brooklyn.

The oath of office was administered to the House as a whole by Speaker Rayburn (D.-Tex.).

The New York delegation contains ten new members—nine Democrats and one Republican. The new Republican is William L. Pfeiffer, Buffalo, who succeeds Rep. Andrews (R.-N. Y.). Andrews did not seek reelection.

The new Democratic members (with their predecessors listed in brackets) are:

Cary Clemente, Ozone Park (Gregory McMahon); T. Vincent Quinn, Whitestone (Robert Tripp Ross); James J. Delaney, Long Island City (Robert Nodar, Jr.); James J. Murphy, Staten Island (Ellsworth C. Buck); Isidore Dollinger, New York city (Leo Isacson); Christopher C. McGrath, New York city (David M. Potts); John C. Davies, Utica (Hadwen C. Fuller); Tauriello (Edward J. Elsaesser) and Gorski (John C. Butler).

Buck, who was succeeded by Murphy, did not seek reelection. The other retiring congressmen, all Republicans with the exception of Isacson, a member of the A.L.P., unsuccessfully sought reelection.

Reason Is Uncovered

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 4 (AP)—An outraged citizen telephoned police: "I won't mind getting a summons for speeding, but I do object to some smart officer signing it 'Good and Swift.' Tell those wise guys to stop the clowning." A quick check showed the summons had been written by Patrolmen Walter J. Swift and Robert H. Good, assigned together in a patrol car.

Agreement Is Reached To End Day Walkout

Scarsdale, N. Y., Jan. 4 (AP)—An industry spokesman announced early today that agreement has been reached to end a one-day walkout of 200 oil and coal delivery men in Westchester county.

He said "trucks of the county fuel dealers will be on the road this morning."

The announcement was made by W. Arthur Riehl, executive secretary of the Westchester Allied Trades Association, a group of 28 firms against which the strike yesterday was called.

The delivery men are members of Local 456 of the A.F.L. Teamsters Union. They deliver fuel supplies to an estimated 50,000 consumers in Westchester county.

Civilian Employes Gain in November

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—The number of civilian government employes went up again in November, to a total of 2,104,585.

The increase was put at 12,405 by the joint committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures, which also reported a net increase of 110,415 for the first 11 months of 1948—an average of 362 daily.

Except for September and October, the committee said, the total has risen in each month of 1948, with figures for December not yet compiled.

The biggest November boost was in the Post Office Department, which added 9,764 employes. The military establishment took on 3,285 and the Veterans' Administration 1,903.

Author Takes Poison

Santa Monica, Calif., Jan. 4 (AP)—Author Lewis Allen Browne ended his life with poison because he preferred death to blindness, police investigators deduced today. The 52-year-old, London-born former rabbi, writer, lecturer and authority on Jewish history left a note, released by police, dated Sunday, about 24 hours before his body was found yesterday in his home at the nearby Uplifters Club Ranch. A bottle of colorless liquid was found near the body. The note said "I felt there was no chance of saving my vision . . . the possible certainty of months . . . groping in the dark is more than I can resign myself to. I have no fear of death. I think it is endless sleep, so, good night."

Kingston High and Sickler's Colonial Resume Schedules This Week

Maroon Seeks 39th Straight Today Against Beacon

Kingston's two leading basketball aggregations—undefeated K.H.S. carrying a 38-game winning streak—and Sickler's Colonials of the Orange-Sullivan League resume action this week.

The all-conquering Maroons figure to win today's game against Beacon High in the Dutchess city at 4 p. m.

Beacon, with a 2-2 record for the season, has shown nothing that should cause any concern in the Kingston camp, but a road game is always a road game. Last season the Beaconites gave Kingston some anxious moments before Big Bob Ghear turned the tide in the second half.

The Beacon record shows victories over St. Patrick's of Newburgh, 58-38, and Highland Falls, 36-35. They lost to Newburgh Free Academy, 39-22, and to Wappingers Falls, 28-38.

About the only note of interest for Kingston rooters would have been the starting lineup. Railbirds are still insisting that Mike Rienzo will start in the backcourt if he cannot oust "Champ" Holstein from a forward berth.

Coach G. Warren Klas has given no indication that such a move is contemplated.

Sicklers Face Point

Len Sickler announced late this morning that Big Ed Weaver will appear in the Colonial lineup against West Point tomorrow night. Weaver does not return to Valley Forge Prep until next Monday.

Sickler's Colonials return to the municipal auditorium Wednesday night to tackle the West Point post team. The Soldiers have failed to crash the victory column in three starts while Tommy Maines' basketeers show a 3-4 record for fourth place in the standings.

On form the Colonials should win but they will be going without two collegians who assisted them in their overwhelming victory over Beacon. The Dutchess county cagers are a step ahead of Kingston with 4 wins and 3 losses.

• Bagatelles:

Well, is your head back to normal yet? . . . Nifty of the Sunday airlanes came on the Fred Allen show. . . . Senator Claghorn's remark that his head felt like there was a porcupine in it with porky rubbing his quills against his eyeballs. . . . If all the dollars spent on alkalizers, bi-carbs, aspirins and sundry sedatives on January 2 were placed end to end, it would make a pretty sight, but still couldn't buy one clear head. The most sensible mammal we saw out around our way was my dog Duke. . . . He absolutely refused to try a glass of beer. A few of the folks managed to stagger up in time to hear the Rose Bowl Game.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Texas' stunning victory over Georgia in the Orange Bowl proves that final seasonal ratings mean absolutely nothing when the shooting starts on New Year's Day. . . . The cold, clammy hand of defeat had virtually wrapped up Northwestern's Wildcats before Art Tunnicliff broke away on that 43-yard sprint. . . . Now the question before the house is: Did or did not Mr. Murakowski fumble before or after he plunged into the end zone. . . . Best bowl performance of the day: Oklahoma against North Carolina. . . . There simply was no justice in that one. . . . Ere the clock scrikes twelve tonight, we'll have a better line on K.H.S. chances of extending that basketball winning streak. . . . Dale Hall, Army basketball star of yesteryear and Doug McKenna, of football fame, may be in the West Point lineup against Sickler's Colonials Wednesday night at the municipal auditorium.

• Splits and Misses:

Joe Wilman, one of bowling greatest all-time performers will be featured at the formal opening of Johnny Ferraro's Bowlodrome on Friday, Jan. 14. . . . Milton Blackstone of Newburgh and the Copacabana is sending up a crew of Broadway entertainers for the occasion. . . . Wilman will demonstrate the "range finders," a Brunswick device which is designed to assist bowlers in developing a spot system. . . . Twice national match game champion and twice A.B.C. all-events winner, Wilman belongs to that small group of immortals that numbers Jimmy Smith, Hank Marino, Joe Falcaro, Walter Ward, Ned Day, Andy Varipapa, Mort Lindsey and a few others. . . . More on the gentleman later. . . . The sorting process started at Vic Ruzzo's new layout yesterday. . . . By the end of the week, the alley beds will start taking shape.

• Of Men and Mice:

Highmount Ski Center narrowly averted serious disaster by erosion during the storm. . . . According to Lincoln Christensen, public relations man, quite serious erosion gouged into the No. 1 and No. 2 ski tow lifts running up the side of Belle Ayre Mountain and some slight cutting was evident in the No. 4 lift line, and on the new Spring Glen Slope near the bottom of the Highmount development. . . . Brilliant work by Harry Craft, of Roxbury, a Engineer Corps veteran, and chief of maintenance at Highmount, averted real disaster and by Sunday the resort was operating at normal with capacity crowd present.

• The Vacationing Tourists:

Father Herdegen postcards from New Orleans Sugar Bowl where he picked North Carolina to beat Oklahoma, an error of judgment that will cost him a half dozen golf balls. . . . Tommy Danaher ensconced in the Florida sunshine for the winter season. . . . Marty Kellenberger, of "Glocoat" fame, wires from Miami Beach with his Atlantic City ABC lineup. . . . The batting order shows: John Sweeney, Kellenberger, Jack Altamori, Fred Ferraro and Lew Hymes. . . . "The Owl" says its a dream team, "an all-round squad, a left hander, hook ball bowler, a 1-2 pocket artist, a backup artist and a golfer. . . . It should click. . . . But will it ? ? ? ? ?"

College Moguls View Two-Platoon System and 'Bowls' With Alarm

San Francisco, Jan. 4 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association sits down at the conference table today to ponder its multiple headache: Are there too many bowl games? Will television cut collegiate gate receipts? And what about the "platoon system" of football substitutions?

These are only a few of the puzzlers. The N.C.A.A. not only makes the rules for college sports; it also sets up codes of behavior for its 300-odd member schools.

A special N.C.A.A. committee has been studying the football bowl situation and is due to report before N.C.A.A. sessions are adjourned next week-end. Officially, no one is talking—yet—about bowl games. Unofficially, one coach said: "Leave my name out and just say something will have to be done, sooner or later."

Some 40 bowl games were played between the end of the gridiron season and Jan. 1. (Prospects for next year: Colossal.)

Attack Sub Rules

Although the week's N.C.A.A. conference will also consider baseball and track rules, principal debate seems to be centering around football rules.

Lou Little, Columbia coach who heads the football rules committee, said questionnaires from 700 coaches seemed to split most sharply over the game's unlimited substitution rule. As it now stands, coaches with the manpower can field a complete defensive team, then run in a new offensive outfit en masse. "Most of the coaches of the smaller colleges argue that such a rule hurts them," he explained. "They do not have the manpower or large enough coaching staffs to produce the platoons which are featuring modern football."

Separate coaches' meetings and N.C.A.A. sessions, opening this morning, continue throughout the week.

Mize and Gordon In Giant Fold

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—Two of the New York Giants' batting stars — Sid Gordon and Johnny Mize—are already in the fold.

Third baseman Gordon, who hit 30 home runs and drove in 106 runs, has signed his 1949 contract, the Giants announced yesterday. No salary was disclosed.

Mize signed last month in Florida.

Coast Conference Nixes Continuation Of Bowl Argument

Palm Springs, Calif., Jan. 4 (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference today officially shut the door on all controversies connected with Northwestern's 20-14 victory over California in the Rose Bowl.

But arguments over decisions by the Coast and Big Nine officials who worked the game did not cease, by any means, as the coast conference went into the second day of its annual winter m[illegible] at the Desert Inn here.

As for official comment, this [illegible] coming from Victor O. [illegible], commissioner of the coast loop:

"We had in this game four of the finest officials in the country, we had the utmost confidence in them. We still have that confidence, we feel that this thought closes the issue."

By conference regulations, Referee Jimmy Cain cannot at this time make any comment on the controversial plays. But immediately after the game he did offer an explanation on the touchdown scored; either before or after the ball advanced across the line, by Fullback Art Murakowski in the second quarter which put Northwestern ahead, 13-7.

While many thought Murakowski fumbled before crossing the line and that Will Lotter of California recovered, Cain said he took the touchdown signal from Jay Berwanger, the field judge, that it was legal, and so decided.

Colonials Sign Two Pitching Prospects

Both Righthanders In Semi-Pro Loops

Signing of two additional pitching prospects for the 1949 Kingston Colonial roster were announced today by club president, Ted Laviano.

The newcomers are both right handers, 21-year-old Frank Demeri of Brooklyn and 20-year-old Arthur E. White of the Bronx.

Demeri, a right handed fast ball pitcher, stands 5 feet 10 inches and weighs about 175. He was the star in a Brooklyn sandlot league and came to the Colonials with high recommendations.

In Pony League

White, who served briefly with Bradford, Pa., in the Pony League in 1946, was voted the best pitcher in the Bronx Alliance League, a strong semi-pro wheel, in 1948. He won nine out of 10 games.

"Both of these fellows may fit into our plans or they may be a year away," Laviano said. "They both were recommended to me by good baseball observers and I intend to give them a real chance to make good."

The signing of White and Demeri brings to five the total of players assigned to the 1949 roster, exclusive of the reserve list.

About the Veterans.

Laviano has not yet made known his intentions regarding "Digger" Odell, Harry Petty, Al Ferony, Danny Palmer, Paul Dunlap and several other veteran regulars. It is doubtful if Petty's status has changed since the end of the '48 campaign and he will be available only for week-end duty, or once a week at the most.

The Colonial president is still waiting for the biggest story of the year to break—and that, of course, is the announcement of the new manager. The field has been narrowed down to five potential candidates but Laviano indicated yesterday that no decision will be forthcoming until about the middle of January.

Will Form New Ferraro Loops

Meetings to organize a 900-average and an intermediate league will be held at Ferraro's Bowlodrome this week. All bowlers with averages of 170 or better interested in entering a 900-team average league are requested to meet at the alleys tonight at 7:30.

Bowlers with averages under 170 will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. Team units that qualify for either classification also are invited.

Bowling Scores

It started out like just another night for Don Vogel in the Independent League last night. He hit 170. Then followed a barrage of strikes for 223 and finishing 251 for a league-leading series of 644. Young Mr. Vogel has definitely started moving up the ladder.

Two other keglers hit the coveted six-hundred bracket. Ray DuBois sidewheeled his way to 221-180-203—604 while Freddie Schryver rapped 223-182-201—606.

Also of interest were J. Davis' 201-571; Ray Cord 217-570; Orville Van Alstyne's 208-571; Charlie Grunenwald's 213-200—595; Harry Wilber 207-587; and Jack Hartman's 213-591.

Eddie Marks hit 189-553; Gene Vogel 206-558; J. Brown 192-552.

Dr. Saul Goldfarb took over high scoring honors in the Good Neighbor League for the second time in recent weeks with a 592 effort. He rallied sharply after a 152 opener to fire games of 209 and 231.

Larry Jacobs posted 192-545; Al Heisman 198-550; H. Schneider 202-540.

Rays Upset Chez Emile, 59-55, Despite 'Link' Crosby's 25 Points

Van Wagenen, Koeppen, Goercke, Ray Heroes

Ray's Riversiders continued in the role of spoilers in the Recreation Basketball League last night, hitting with a phenomenal percentage of shots to defeat Chez Emile, 59-55 in a spectacular battle.

The setback was the second in five starts for the Chezzies.

In other games, Schuler's Inn scored their second victory while sending Harry's Angels deeper down into you where, 45-39; while Wiltwyck's handled Village Rest easily, 57-40.

Van Wagenen, Goercke and Koeppen were the Ray's satellites as the Riversiders took command early in the game and moved ahead 29-20 at halftime.

The trio had to work hard to overcome the brilliant individual play of "Link" Crosby who made a desperate effort to keep Chez Emile in the ball game with 25 points. Van Wagenen dropped in 19, Goercke 15 and Koeppen 11. Jordan picked up 14 for Chez Emile.

Hughes, Carter Star

George Hughes and Jake Carter paced Schulers in a fast second half drive against Harry's Angels. The winners led by only a basket, 23-21, at halftime but dominated the game after the recess. Hughes scored a dozen points and Carter had 10. McConnell the Angel center, was top man with 18.

Form paid off in the Wiltwyck-Village Rest contest and the Motormen breezed after grabbing an early lead. They were in front 28-11 at the intermission. Parslow and McElrath scored 10 markers each and Petruski had a similar total for Village Rest.

Sugar Bowl Elevens Get $102,000 For Biggest Take on New Year's Day

New York, Jan. 4 (AP) — The Rose Bowl carved up the largest financial melon of the $2,500,000 that poured in from the New Year's Day football games but two of the fattest individual slices went to the teams in the Sugar Bowl.

North Carolina and Oklahoma received the fat purses at New Orleans — better than $102,000 each—without any commitments to share it. The total gate was $324,000.

Principals in the Rose and Cotton Bowls were paid off handsomely but had to share some of their wealth among their conference brothers.

Even so, it looked as if California and Oregan, the coast co-champions, both would wind up with a bit more than $100,000.

Oregon not only receives its share of the Cotton Bowl profits but, as a Pacific coast member, gets a bit of the money taken in by the Rose Bowl.

Half Million Gross

While the Pasadena sponsors haven't completed their audit, the best estimate is that their game grossed $533,000, after taxes.

This includes receipts from approximately 89,270 ticket sales and $100,000 for radio and television rights.

Of the total, the Tournament of Roses Association gets about $129,000, leaving approximately $404,000 to be split between the Pacific Coast and Western Conferences.

Here's how the two Conferences deal out the dough:

University of California, the host team in the Bowl, gets half the Conference share—in this case, $101,000—and $25,000 goes to the Conference treasury. What's left is distributed among the members. California shares in this, too.

The Big Nine divides the pot 11 ways. Northwestern gets two shares, one share goes to the commissioner's office and one goes to each of the other eight members.

Sox Release Hurler To Newark Bears

Chicago, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today released righthanded Pitcher Pete Gebrian, 25, of Bayonne, N. J., to Newark of the International League.

The Sox said the move completed a deal with the New York Yankees for Pitcher Randy Gumpert last season. Gebrian won 11 and lost 12 for the Sox' Hollywood farm club in the Pacific Coast League last season. In 1947, Gebrian won two and lost three for the Sox.

The University of Mississippi has scheduled 20 basketball games for the 1948-49 season.

Billiard Entries Close January 15

Entries for the 1949 city pocket billiard tournament at the Kaslich Parlor will close on Saturday, Jan. 15, it was announced today. The annual tournament sponsored by Nick Kaslich will feature several of the area's leading green baize experts. Dave Brooks is the defending champion. The tournament is open to both residents and non-residents of the city and county. Mr. Kaslich expects his largest entry list in years.

European Track Aces Due Here

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—The first of two of five European Olympic track stars — Ingvar Bengsston and Eric Ahlden—were scheduled today to test the indoor cork track at the New York Athletic Club and the outdoor boards at Columbia University.

The pair, who arrived Sunday, was to spend the day on two tracks, watch a metropolitan track meet and continue to train in preparation for the eight meets in which they will participate.

They said they will maintain their rigorous schedule of morning and afternoon workouts while working under Tiger Track Coach Matty Geis.

They will use the cross-country course in the morning and the 11-lap banked board track in the afternoon.

Nocando Banquet

The annual mid-season banquet of the Nocando Bowling League will be held at the Rainbow Inn on Thursday, January 6, at 7:30 p. m.

Football Yanks Sign Three College Aces

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—The New York Yankees of the All-America Football Conference have signed three new college players.

They are Fullback Tom Landry of Texas, Halfback Jerry Williams of Washington State and Guard Ken Sinofsky of Nevada.

The Yankees beat out the National League Giants for the services of Landry, who scored the second touchdown for Texas against Georgia in the Orange Bowl Saturday.

Glenn Dobbs of the Los Angeles Dons of the All-American Conference averaged 49.1 yards per punt during the 1948 season, a new pro mark.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, Jan. 3—The weather is the main topic of conversation at this writing. Starting with sleet early Wednesday morning that soon left roads and walks icy and treacherous, it was followed by rain that has continued for two days causing traffic troubles because of swollen streams. The Mombaccus creek, below Accord, was reported several feet over Route 209 and traffic was diverted by way of Whitfield. The new road recently completed just south of the old "Slide" near Kerhonkson was said to be under a couple of feet or more of water last Thursday and already several cars were in difficulty there. Wednesday morning, with the road covered with ice, the Marbletown hill lived up to its reputation and at one time numerous vehicles, including the 8:40 Eagle Line bus out of Kingston, were off the road. Water in the Beerkill, which empties into the Rondout, was well up Thursday noon and rising. Major difficulties include cellars and garages, not built to meet the conditions, being turned into miniature ponds, while dirt driveways were becoming seas of mud.

Members of the town of Wawarsing board evidently feel that, even in these days of "high" ideas, an attempt to finance a town airport and a modern town hospital is biting off a little too much. At its final meeting for the year Monday night the town board passed a resolution calling for a referendum on the proposition to construct a hospital. It is expected that arrangements for the vote can be completed within three or four months. As to the airport, the board voted to inform the Civil Aeronautics Administration of the State Department of Commerce that it would make no claim on its tentative allotment of $45,000. The board also took no action on a letter from an engineering firm offering to make a survey, prepare a master plan, etc., for the airport for $2,500.

In judging the Christmas decorating contest for homes Monday night, it was decided that some would have to be judged for lighting effects and others for holiday display. Accordingly two winners were named. For the lighting display first place went to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Matthews; for the holiday display that of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ingham received the award.

Elbridge Van Gorder, elderly and well known citizen of the town of Wawarsing, a retired farmer who had made his home in Ellenville for over 20 years, died last Thursday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nial Moshier, 40 Warren street. Death was due to coronary thrombosis, but he had been in failing health for some time. Funeral services were held Monday at the home of his daughter, the Rev. John H. Ludlum, Jr., officiating. Burial was in Fantinekill cemetery. Mr. Van Gorder was born at The Cape February 29, 1864, son of Hiram and Ann Eliza Carney Van Gorder. September 25, 1888, he married Ida Frances Grimley at Greenfield. Mrs. Van Gorder died March 25, 1905. He is survived by three sons, Alfred and Floyd Van Gorder of Ellenville and Bevier Van Gorder of Freeport, L. I.; four daughters, Mrs. Nial Moshier and Mrs. Willard H. Peet of Ellenville, Mrs. E. C. Douglas of Albany and Mrs. H. C. Pratt of Omaha, Neb.; also six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

At the meeting of Wawarsing Chapter, O.E.S., Monday evening the following officers will be installed: Marion Traver, worthy matron; Joseph Carberry, worthy patron; Emma Matthews, associate matron; Phyllis Renson, secretary; Catherine Richard, treasurer; Hilda Chase, conductress; Helen Bibb, associate conductress; Marion Anderson, trustee for three years. Appointive officers also will be installed at that time.

It is announced that Miss Ethel Silverman of Ellenville and Robert L. Steinfeld of New York city were married in New York Sunday afternoon, Rabbi J. X. Cohen of the Free Synagogue officiating. They will make their home at Jackson Heights.

Revenue Bureau Says Stars Can't Evade Just Taxes

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau said bluntly today neither radio stars nor anyone else will be allowed to get off at the comparatively low capital gains tax rate on sales of personal services.

The capital gains rate, applicable only to sales of "capital assets"—which means property—is a flat 25 per cent.

Income tax rates, applicable to personal compensation, scale up to 77 per cent on sums above $1,000,000.

George J. Schoeneman, the Revenue commissioner, set forth the bureau's position after a wave of inquiries as to tax treatment of deals where personal services of radio and movie artists are involved.

The inquiries mounted after the bureau was reported to have ruled that income tax rates rather than the capital gains rate applied to the approximately $2,260,000 involved in switching comedian Jack Benny's program from the N.B.C. to the C.B.S. radio network.

Schoeneman gave a reporter this explanation of the bureau attitude:

"The tax effect of any business transaction is determined by its realities. Accordingly, proposals of radio artists and others to obtain compensation for personal services under the guise of sales of property can not be regarded as coming within the capital gains provisions of the internal revenue code. Such compensation is taxable at ordinary income tax rates."

A few months back the bureau approved the capital gains rate application in the sale of the fictional radio characters Amos 'N' Andy, that their imaginary characters were merely property after the fashion of comic strip characters.

The stern attitude of the bureau towards other efforts to obtain approval of a capital gains rate on other contracts involving personal services of live performers has largely deflated hopes that a tax-saving loophole had been discovered.

Man Is Found Dead

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—John De Clary, 75, of 1037 East 216th street, the Bronx, was found dead in the roadway of Laconia avenue near 216th street last night. He apparently had been struck and fatally injured by a car whose driver failed to halt, police reported. Police said the elderly man had left his home about 10 minutes earlier, and was returning with an armful of groceries. The scattered groceries lay around his body. An auto radiator statuette, apparently broken by the force of the crash, also was found near De Clary's body.

S. B. Bowman Dies

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—Sidney B. Bowman, 81, pioneer automobile dealer, died yesterday. Bowman promoted bicycles in the nineties, but at the height of the bicycle boom in 1896, he switched to automobile selling. He sold autos powered by electricity, by steam and then by gasoline. The latter included Thomases, Appersons, Marmons, Oaklands, Kissels, Gardners and Packards. He sold the first Buick in New York and was one of the first dealers on New York's "Automobile Row" on midtown Broadway.

Good Defender

Alamosa, Colo. (AP)—In his 37 years as a lawyer, George H. Blickhahn has defended 25 persons accused of murder. Not one has been given the death sentence. Only two, in fact, were convicted of first degree murder and both of them won outright freedom on reversals by the Colorado supreme court. Two others were convicted of second degree murder and one of manslaughter. The 20 others were acquitted.

HI—FOLKS!
At exactly 12:01 A.M., January 1st, a bouncing boy arrived in the Central Hudson valley! He's a different kind of a baby—a grown-up baby—a real bouncer . . . ½ stronger than a horse. His name is REDDY KILOWATT!
Reddy has really been around for a long time. You just haven't recognized him. You've probably never thought of him as having a name and personality. In homes, he's the fellow who helps with the washing, cleans rugs, lights lights, does ironing, plays the radio. On farms, he milks cows, pumps water, grinds feed, saws wood—furnishes wired help for a hundred chores. In factories, you couldn't get along without him. The drill press, the lathe, the grinder are powered by him. He is energy itself!
From now on you'll hear and see a lot of Reddy. His main job will be to symbolize Central Hudson's services to you. You'll need but very little imagination to see him because he lives in every electrical outlet. To hear him, just plug in an appliance or flip a switch. The hum of the work he instantly proceeds to do is music to peoples' ears!

Marine Ball Will Feature Pierson And All Star Show

At Monday's night's meeting of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, it was announced that plans are progressing satisfactorily for the third annual ball scheduled for Thursday night, January 20, in the New York State Armory.

Commandant Eugene B. Barkow, general chairman of the event, praised his committeemen arranging the social affair and forecast that their efforts would make it the biggest and best sponsored by the ex-leathernecks.

More than 25 former marines who fought in practically all of the theatres of activity during World War 2 attended last night's meeting in the American Legion Memorial Building. All expressed enthusiasm over promotion of the social to which the public is invited. Tickets are being distributed now.

Don Pierson's 10-piece band will play for dancing from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. in the ballroom at the armory, which will be arranged as a mammoth night club. A stage show, featuring a variety of entertainment stars, will be presented. Arrangements for the show are being made through the Daley agency in Albany.

Heads of the committees announced by General Chairman Barkow are: Harold E. Macholdt, entertainment; J. R. Mayone, tickets; Augustus Brinnier, program; Edward Esposito, decorations; Albert J. Melville, publicity; Frank Cronk, refreshments.

Two special meetings for reports on progress of the committees are to be held at the Legion building on January 10 and 17.

Thomas Is Taken To Hospital; Gets Delay in Trial

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R.-N.J.), was in Walter Reed Hospital today after a seven-day postponement of his trial on fraud charges.

District Judge Schweinhaut granted postponement to January 17.

Counsel for the former chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee pleaded that Thomas' life might be endangered by a "nervous or mental disturbance" at this time.

Thomas had been scheduled to go on trial January 10, on charges he defrauded the government by accepting salary kickbacks from non-working "employes" listed on his Congressional payroll.

William H. Collins, defense attorney, told the judge Thomas is "a very sick man."

Dr. F. R. Kanning, of Allendale, N. J., Thomas' hometown, in an affidavit presented to the court, said any undue strain or excitement might bring on a recurrence of the internal hemorrhage Thomas recently suffered.

"fit themselves" in the Regents plan.

Dewey said the Regents had presented reasons why they believe state aid for education should be boosted $23,600,000 above mandated increases.

Asked if their arguments had convinced him, Dewey replied:

"I was interested in their proposals very much."

Dewey described the Regents' proposal to spend $18,000,000 this year for school building as "just a vague figure pulled out of the air." The proposal, he continued, did not "include any means for distributing the funds."

He added, however, that the Regents elaborated during yesterday's conference on their proposal and that "we agreed that it required more study."

He said the board agreed to meet with him again regarding it.

Dewey said no decision had been reached on the Regents proposal to make annual salary increments for teachers automatic through the ninth year of service, instead of the sixth as at present.

Even without the Regents' proposals, the convening Legislature is expected to be asked by Dewey to approve a budget for the 1949-50 fiscal year of $900,000,000 or more. The 1948-49 budget was $812,000,000.

Dewey will deliver his annual message to the Legislature at noon tomorrow. He is expected to outline a huge spending program requiring increased state taxes.

to break out within party meetings.

Ives, who quarterbacked the insurgent move, said the fact that 14 Republicans voted against Taft "serves notice to the Republican Party that some of us are determined that it shall go forward and not backward."

"But I fight my battles within the party and not outside," he added.

Senator Baldwin of Connecticut, one of the rebels, quipped to a reporter: "The new guard dies but never surrenders."

Taft himself discounted the likelihood of a permanent rift among the Republicans.

"I don't think this division will carry down the line," he said.

Smith Expects Tension to Last

Pittsburgh, Jan. 4 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union, told a news conference last night he expects Russian-American relations "to remain in a state of tension for some time."

Later in a speech at Duquesne University where he received a Doctor of Laws degree, Gen. Smith said he believes it is inconceivable the U.S. ever will abandon the principles of freedom upon which its democracy is founded.

Recently returned from Russia, Gen. Smith had tendered his resignation in keeping with the custom followed by top diplomats and cabinet members at the start of each new administration. President Truman has not yet acted on Gen. Smith's resignation.

"We can't allow ourselves to be lulled into a false sense of security," Gen. Smith told the news conference, "neither can we afford to become hysterical."

Asked whether he was discouraged over the failure of Russia to lift the Berlin blockade, Gen. Smith said:

"Anyone who gets discouraged had better quit being a diplomat. I am neither optimistic nor pessimistic. We are very wrong to take the view that the present tense situation automatically will explode into war tomorrow or the next day."

The business men of Kingston
And merchants if you please
Did put their best foot forward
For a joyous holiday ease.
The Christmas trees, the holly,
The garlands, reindeer, sleigh,
With Santa round and chubby
To lead the jolly way,
The chuckles and the laughter
The Ahs! and Ohs! galore,
The twinkling stars above us,
The grand remarks, like
"What a sight! That's something as of yore."
The snow at nature's call,
Yes Christmas, Merry Christmas,
Did enter Kingston's door.

'Twas Christmas, Merry Christmas,
For all both great and small
With warm hearts beating brightly
To greet the Christ Child small,
Who doesn't love a baby,
With him there's something wrong;
Especially Baby Jesus
The hellest of all.
We thank you for your kindness,
The business men and all
Who made the city festive,
"A happy and prosperous New Year,"

SHOKAN

Shokan, Jan. 3—George Chopay, Springfield, L. I., young man who spends his summers in Shokan, is reported to have enlisted in the Naval Reserves. George is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George Giles of the old state road.

Mrs. Arthur Carter spent several days last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Bush at Brown's. Mr. and Mrs. Bush recently visited their daughter, Lena, in New Jersey.

During the heavy rainfall Thursday afternoon, a clogged culvert on the Trail at Winchell's Corner caused a torrent of water to go rushing down the concrete pavement toward Ashokan. Fred Herschenroeder, local member of the state highway department's Ulster county force, braved the deluge and the splash from passing cars to correct the overflow.

Donald Bishop, well known West Olive war veteran and electrical contractor, was a caller in the village center Thursday. Don is putting up a building on his property along Route 28-A which he will use as a shop and hardware store.

Mrs. Ezra Green of Ashokan and niece, Jennie Miller of Brodhead, were recent guests at the home of their relative, Mrs. Everett Glass, in West Hurley. Mrs. Green will be having another birthday on Tuesday, January 4. She is the former Flora Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Barnes of the town of Denning. She and her late husband resided for many years at Peekamoose before coming to make their home in Ashokan.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bush, industrious citizens of Ashokan for the past several years, are reported to be offering their home and small farm for sale. They have gone to Coxsackie where they formerly were engaged in farming.

Cards have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Santi Nadal, Shokan couple who are spending the winter months at Bryn Athyn, Pa. Santi is a brother of Ramon Nadal, North Front street garage proprietor and motor sales agent.

The January meeting of the W.S.C.S. of the Ashokan Methodist Church is scheduled for next Wednesday at the church hall. Olive Gulnack and Hazel Byrne are president and vice-president, respectively of the society.

Mrs. Theodore Carlson of New York spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gebelein, and son, Harold Carlson.

The regular monthly meeting and annual election of officers of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church is scheduled to take place next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Fred Adsit.

Local streams are carrying a large volume of water down into the two basins of the Ashokan Reservoir as a result of last Wednesday's steady rainfall. This is "just what the doctor ordered" for pushing up the flowline to a good winter's supply of water.

Mrs. Kendall Every and sons, Kendall and Robert, came up from Richmond Hill, L. I., Monday to spend a few days at their summer bungalow on VanSteenburgh Hill.

George Vintz, who with his family came to Shokan and moved into one of the P. Mastota cottages on The Trail several weeks ago, is continuing his vocation of selling leather goods.

Chloe Bell observed her birthday on New Year's Day. Miss Bell, who resides in the east end of the village, was born and raised in the town of Olive. Also on Saturday was the 31st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elson Oakley of the Church hill neighborhood. The couple, who removed to Shokan from Olive Bridge a few years ago, have four grown children.

The old wires and cross-arms of the telephone trunkline reportedly have been taken down as far west as the Mt. Tremper sector.

John and James Rutherford are cutting firewood on their hardwoods lot west of the Ridge road. The brothers are the oldest retail stove-wood dealers in this section. Current price for delivered round and split chunks is five dollars a cord which is what the sawmills charge for slabwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Murdock of the Onteora Trail spent last week in Binghamton.

Holiday greeting cards have been received from Mr. and Mrs. James W. Jones, former mountain road couple who are now making their home in Louisville, Ky., where they lived before coming to Shokan.

William "Bill" Jackson, local K.H.S. graduate of last spring, is learning the telephone business "from the ground up," so to speak. Bill is now a splicer on field work in the Phoenicia area.

Bernard Bohmer, who with his wife bought and occupied the one time Lyman Smith place in Ashokan early in the year, is at his home much of the time this winter with poor health.

As Pegler Sees It

amounts of money into its vacation fund with respect to the work of individual members but makes its own decision as to how much of that money shall be paid back to these subjects for their vacations, and for other purposes.

That is familiar practice. It appears to be legal. But it is not a practice of "labor." It is a practice of unionism. The collection of arbitrary assessments, shakedowns in the cases of unwilling members, for use in Europe is another practice of this union which the Times calls "labor." It also spent the workers' money for underground work or spying in Europe—or said it did—during the war. The money couldn't be accounted for because that process would betray the secret operatives. Twenty years ago that sort of thing was confined to European governments. Then Roosevelt dodged questions about the expenditure of cash by saying it went for secret work which couldn't be discussed. How do we know Elliott didn't get it? That was raw enough. But now unions have the same privilege of taxing American workmen for money to spend in European countries—they say—without accounting for it.

This "plan" of Dubinsky's "deserves careful consideration" because it is "one of the most progressive, best led and most responsible trade unions in the country," says the New York Times.

You see the trick there? You are not a walking compendium of police cases so you say "well, if the Times says so, it must be so."

Now you can't do much about that highly complimentary term "progressive." The Communists say there are progressive. Henry Wallace called his Communist front the Progressive Party. That might be what the Times means. "Best led—." That is an awkward phrase but it means to deceive you about Dubinsky's character and his union's character. He doesn't lead. He bosses. This outfit follows European Socialism. Its practices are Marxian although it opposes the Communists and their party. The reason why it has had such a hard time with native, anglo-Saxon Americans is that it goes contrary to the stuff which we imported from England to form the basis of our society and government.

"— and most responsible unions in the country," says the Times.

A few weeks ago this Dubinsky union in New York hired 200 professional goons from the Searfarers' International Union, of the A. F. of L., at $75 a week each to exert moral suasion on non-union workers.

The police rounded up 42 in one bunch and Frank Hogan, the district attorney, was told that they had a habit of surrounding non-union workers at their jobs and escorting them to the union office to sign up. Some of these recruits to the ranks of the "progressive" and "responsible" Garment Workers' Union thought they were being intimidated. They were afraid of the sailors who all wore white caps, symbolic of the sea, perhaps. Big fellows and pugnacious. They didn't say "please." And the same sailors' hall had turned out goons last spring to riot in the Wall Street strike of A.F. of L. Clerical Workers.

This is the same union, as the New York Times well knows, which terrorized American citizens at the Donnelly Garment Works in Kansas City, to make them quit their own union, and add their taxes to the aggregate power of the immigrant David Dubinsky. That was the case which tested the so-called Norris-La Guardia Act forbidding federal judges to issue injunctions against violent coercion of citizens by unions. Felix Frankfurter created this law and later wrote a Supreme Court decision upholding it as constitutional whereas others said it wasn't. And Judge Otis, of the District Court, refusing to grant the injunction against Dubinsky, wrote that this law, Felix Frankfurter's law, simply meant that the way to avoid the law was to avoid the judges.

"There is an unintended compliment," his opinion said, "in legislation which recognizes that the judges will stand firm in obedience to their oaths and that the thing to do, if the law is to be avoided, is to avoid the judges."

Well, there you have the New York Times on unionism. Better watch those editorials. They can trick you.

Clues Are Worthless

Rockland, Me. (AP)—Three silver dollars — a rarity here — were among $500 stolen from a store. Police Chief George Shaw alerted his force to watch for anyone passing silver dollars. Two days later silver dollar clues became worthless. A local concern included 600 of them in its 23 employes' pay envelopes.

Many people ask me if they have to train to become an expert before entering tournament bridge competition. They most certainly do not. Among the ranks of tournament players there are some who spend a great deal of their lives playing bridge, but there also are all types of business and professional people who find relaxation in tournament bridge.

For example, Mrs. Julius Daub, who plays a lot of tournament bridge in New York city, successfully operates her own business, and has been successful in tournament competition as well.

Today's hand, which was played by Mrs. Daub, is one of the prettiest that I have seen in a long time. Actually I think it is an unusual type of smother play. She won the opening lead of the three of diamonds with the queen, cashed the ace and king of clubs and ruffed the deuce of diamonds in dummy. Next she led the nine of clubs and ruffed it, then tried the heart finesse, which lost to the king.

East played a heart back and Mrs. Daub won it in her own hand with the ten-spot. Then she cashed the king of diamonds, throwing away dummy's good queen of hearts. Her next unusual play was to lead the ace of diamonds and trump it in dummy. Now she cashed the ace of hearts, and when everybody followed, she led the jack of clubs from dummy.

At this point East was down to his three trumps, and West had a club and two trumps. Mrs. Daub was left with three trumps. East trumped the jack of clubs with the six of spades, declarer overtrumped with the ten, and her ace and king of spades picked up the remaining trumps.

If East had trumped the club with the jack of spades, Mrs. Daub would have overtrumped with the ace and then would have been able to finesse West out of the queen of spades. Actually, therefore, she smothered her opponents out of a good trump trick.

Library Gets Scrap Books

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—Sophie Tucker, "last of the red hot mamas," has given the New York Public Library her 2,000 personal scrap-books. "Here are the keys, baby," the 61-year-old singer said to an elderly librarian yesterday as she turned over her records of more than four decades in show business. There were three huge steamer trunks and an even larger theatrical hamper stuffed with carefully-dated and labeled theatre lore—clippings, programs, letters and postcards, pictures and music. Library officials said the collection will become part of the library's theatre section.

Investigators Seek Cause Of Seattle Plane Crash

Seattle, Jan. 4 (AP)—Government investigators hoped today to track down the cause of a DC-3 plane crash in which 14 persons died Sunday night.

The "Holiday Special" chartered by 27 Washington and Oregon students returning to Yale University became a flaming pyre for 11 of the youths and three crew members.

After a long wait at Boeing Field in freezing fog the twin-engined transport roared down the icy runway. Moments later it was a shattered, burning hulk at the foot of an earth revetment beside a hangar.

Airport workers braved the gasoline-fed fire to rescue 12 students. Four others crawled out unassisted.

To find the reason for the crash, crews from the Civil Aeronautics Board and Civil Aeronautics Administration are seeking the answers to these questions:

Who was at the controls of the ill-fated plane? Did the pilot disregard warnings from the control tower? Had proper precautions been taken to clear ice from the wings? Was the plane overloaded? Did the engines fail?

Leon D. Cuddeback, C.A.B. regional director, said his first step will be a study of C.A.A. working records and a wire recording of control tower instructions to various planes on the field.

The C.A.A. charges the pilot ignored advice from the tower on "below minimum" weather condition. Company officials contend takeoff clearance was given.

Also to be determined is whether William Chavers of Seattle, listed as pilot, or William J. Leland, owner of the plane, was at the controls.

Another flier, John Vineyard of Yakima, Wash., told the C.A.B. he was a personal friend of Chavers and the last person to talk with him before the takeoff. Vineyard said Leland got into the pilot's seat and started the engines.

Also being checked is the DC-3's load. Normally a plane of that type carries 21 and a crew of three. In the "Holiday Special" were 27 passengers.

Cuddeback said findings will be sent to Washington, D. C., and it will be at least a week before it is known whether a formal hearing will be ordered.

Woman Will Hang In Great Britain

London, Jan. 4 (AP)—A woman is to be hanged in Britain for the first time since 1936. She is Margaret Allen, 41. Home Secretary James Chuter Ede announced today he saw no reason to grant her a reprieve.

Miss Allen, who had her hair cut short, dressed like a man and told friends her sex had been changed by an operation, was convicted at Manchester on December 8 of murdering her 68-year-old neighbor, Mrs. Nancy Chadwick. She made no appeal against the death sentence which is due to be carried out this week.

The last woman to be hanged in England was Mrs. Charlotte Bryant who was executed in 1936 for poisoning her husband.

Bear Skips Hibernation

Belton, Mont. (AP)—One of the bears at Glacier National Park has insomnia. While others are sleeping away the winter, the yearling grizzly romps about, tipping over trash cans and being a nuisance in general. Chief Ranger Naturalist M. E. Beatty says he's probably an orphan cub who didn't get enough to eat in the summer and still is building up fat for the long hibernation.

Plans Are Ready For Infantile Drive Starting Jan. 14th

All arrangements are complete for the 1949 March of Dimes, which starts January 14, according to Mrs. William Powers, campaign chairman of the drive to raise money for the Ulster County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Chairman Powers made this announcement after the recent executive meeting during which officers were elected to work with her. They are Raymond Garraghan, treasurer; Mrs. William Kelly, secretary; Tuthill McDowell of Ellenville, vice chairman and Harold Wilkins of Shokan, second vice chairman.

Speaking at the meeting, E. Burr Gibson, state representative of the Infantile Foundation, told how the organization aided North Carolina during the epidemic that afflicted many of its inhabitants. He said that:

500 nurses and 54 physical therapists were recruited, many of the latter trained through the foundation scholarships; 17 resident physicians provided; an epidemic aid team recruited from the University of Pittsburgh; salaries and transportation paid by National Foundation for polio fighters; items of costly equipment furnished such as 26 respirators, 80 hot pack machines, 2,448 pounds of hot packs material, 475 bedside tables, 14 refrigerators, 141 tables, 390 chairs and 646 beds and cribs, also sterilizers, chart desk, suction machines, oxygen equipment, electric fans, blankets and many smaller items.

Gibson reported that 100,000 cases of polio have occurred during the past six years during his remarks urging support of the March of Dimes.

Coin boxes are on their way to the various townships, Mrs. Powers advised, and are to be distributed by the various chairmen and their assistants.

Plans for the annual March of Dimes ball are underway and will be announced in detail by Chairman William Kelly as soon as completed.

Anyone desiring information regarding the March of Dimes drive may phone Mrs. Powers at 4724-M.

Rochford Pleased With Results of Yule Seal Sale

The greatest interest of Ulster county residents in the work of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association is proved by the strong local support given the 1948 Christmas Seal sale, according to county seal sale Chairman Edmund P. Rochford who today gave his report to Harry S. Ensign, president of the association.

"A seal sale report such as this," said Chairman Rochford, "tells us that the interest of the community in its own health and welfare is constantly growing. It shows wholehearted backing of an organization set up and operating for the primary purpose of preventing and controlling tuberculosis in Ulster county.

"Such enthusiastic support would be impossible if our people were not learning more about tuberculosis and realizing its threat to their homes and happiness. And we know that the more people learn about the disease and act on that knowledge, the better chance we have of eradicating it in the county.

"We wish to remind those who have still to answer their seal sale letter that it is not too late to do so. The Tuberculosis Association conducts a year-round service of tuberculosis prevention and control in this community. This work depends on a successful 1948 seal sale."

The report stated that about 100 volunteers aided with the campaign, talks were given before clubs and other groups, several schools held programs in connection with the campaign, that 70 churches joined in the observance of Christmas Seal Sunday, all county newspapers gave publicity to the seal sale and that the Christmas Seal movie trailer was shown in all Ulster county theatres.

Rent Office Gets Report of 295 Voluntary Boosts

Charles C. Hoag, area rent director for the Poughkeepsie and Rockland Defense-Rental Areas, announced today that the area rent office received 295 voluntary leases providing for rent increases up to 15 per cent under the Housing and Rent Act of 1948 during the month of December. These added to the 1,302 leases filed during April, May, June, July, August, September, October and November, make a total of 1,597 leases filed during the period permitted by the act, which was April 1, 1948 to December 31, 1948, inclusive.

Hoag said that under the Housing and Rent Act of 1948 one copy of the above mentioned leases along with three copies of registration of lease, form D-92, must be filed with the area office within 15 days after the execution date of the lease and the last day for executing these leases was December 31, 1948.

He further stated that any dwelling unit under a voluntary lease which expired December 31, 1948, filed in accordance with the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, is now back under rent control as of January 1, 1949. The maximum rent for such a unit is the lease rent. The unit is protected through March 31, 1949, which is the expiration date of the Housing and Rent Act of 1948. Landlords of these units are now permitted to file petitions for adjustments in rent under one or more of the 13 adjustment grounds under the rent regulations, which include major capital improvement, increase in service or equipment, increase in occupancy, inequitable rents, decrease in revenue due to increased property taxes or operating expenses and operating at a loss, and tenants of the units are permitted to seek an adjustment in rent if the registered service of the unit have been decreased.

Any landlord or tenant seeking further information on rent control should write to the area rent office at 13 Washington street, Poughkeepsie, or call Poughkeepsie 4700. The area rent office is open to the public from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Students to Go To Capital; A.V.C. Offers Solution

Spring Valley, N. Y., Jan. 4 (AP)—The Senior Class of the Spring Valley High School, which called off an eastern vacation trip to Washington because of alleged racial discrimination in the capital, is going to make the trip after all.

The 110 students in the class voted unanimously yesterday to accept an offer by the Washington Council of the American Veterans Committee which they decided solved the difficulties causing the previous cancellation of the trip.

Several weeks ago the class called off the visit when it learned that four Negro members of the class would not be afforded the same lodging and eating facilities as the others.

The A.V.C. offer, read to the class today by Faculty Advisor Emanuel Singer, stated that the organization would put up four Negro students and four white students in their clubhouse.

The A.V.C. also offered to furnish the remaining students with meals in the clubhouse at cost.

Other features of the A.V.C. offer included entertainment, introduction of as many as possible of the students to federal legislators; a meeting at which speakers of national prominence would be present, and guided tours of the capital.

Typical of the class reaction to the acceptance vote on the A.V.C offer was that of 17-year-old Jeanne Rigaud, who said she was glad of the decision because:

"First, seeing Washington will make our federal government something more personal to us. Secondly, because we've proven that racial discrimination can be overcome."

Sorcerers Are Called Upon

Pearl Harbor, Jan. 4 (AP)—Navy administrators asked the tribal Sorcerers to cast a spell on Yap Island, after $2,100 disappeared from the safe of the navy-sponsored Copra warehouse. Sorcerers hung a "pa'pigue"—a sacred symbol woven of palm leaf—on the warehouse wall. And then someone quietly returned $1,100 of the stolen money. With $1,000 still missing, the Yap Islanders continued to fret under the spell. Finally, an islander was caught burying cigarettes in a garden. He confessed the money theft, and was sentenced to three years by a navy court. And the spell was lifted at Yap.

Meringue Tips

In making meringue for pie be sure to beat in the sugar gradually, one tablespoon at a time, and beat extremely well after each addition. After all the sugar is added the meringue should be beaten until it is very thick and glossy and the peaks stand up well when the beater is withdrawn.

Adrean Appointed Procurement Chief

Edward Adrean of New Paltz has been appointed aviation cadet procurement officer for Aviators' Post, American Legion, of New York.

Adrean urged men between the ages of 20 and 26 to investigate the advantages of the aviation cadet program. To qualify, a person within that age group must be a high school graduate, possess certain physical qualifications and preferably have completed two years of college or be able to pass a equivalency examination.

Further information may be secured from Adrean during weekdays at the office of the county assistant engineer, New York State Department of Public Works, 32 Main street, or at other times at his home in New Paltz.

The aviation cadet program offers a chance for training and advancement to young men interested in flying the latest type of aircraft and should be especially desirable to those who are eligible for the draft, Adrean said.

West Breaks Out Of Blizzard; Many Persons Marooned

Denver, Jan. 4 (AP)—The western plains started breaking the paralyzing grip of an icy blizzard which had at least 2,000 travelers stranded today.

Giant snow plows chewed their way through huge drifts which blocked highways in the hardest hit area — northeastern Colorado and southeastern Wyoming.

Weather permitting, airplanes were to fly over the snow-swept plain in search of ranchers and motorists in trouble.

Stockmen feared cattle losses would be heavy as a result of the two-day blizzard which moved eastward slowly today.

The most acute situation appeared to be 35 miles north of Greeley, Colo., where the highway patrol reported 305 persons jammed into a filling station and tavern at Rockport. Patrol Chief Gilbert Carrel asked Lowry Air Base to parachute supplies to the marooned motorists as a snow plow sought to open the road. Army weasels loaded with supplies accompanied the plow.

More than 1,500 travelers were stranded at various places in Wyoming. Two hundred more were at Nunn, Colo. Uncounted others were at farms and ranches along the highways.

King Goes for Ride

London, Jan. 4 (AP)—Ailing King George VI left Buckingham palace today for the first time since Nov. 11. He went for a short automobile drive with the Queen before lunch. The King's physicians, attending him for faulty blood circulation in the legs, announced this week they would permit him to engage in "limited activity." Tomorrow, the youngest member of the royal family, the infant Prince Charles, born November 14, will have his first long automobile ride. He will be taken by his parents, Princess Elizabeth and the Prince Philip, to Sandringham, Norfolk, where members of the royal family will gather for a brief country holiday. It will be a 104-mile drive for the young prince.

Forecast Is Reversed

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—Reversing its forecast of last night, the United States Weather Bureau this morning brought the cheering news that no rain or snow would fall on the city today. In a special forecast issued at 7:30 a. m., the bureau forecaster predicted "no precipitation today or tonight, rain and mild tomorrow." At 9:20 p. m. last night, the Weather Bureau had forecast snow or freezing rain for this morning, with snow turning to rain in the afternoon.

Appreciate Christmas Cheer at Benedictine

The Benedictine Sisters express sincere appreciation to their many friends who so generously contributed in spreading Christmas cheer throughout the hospital at Christmas.

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary devoted much time in decorating the reception hall and the trimming of trees in corridors and wards of the hospital.

The merchants were most generous and many friends contributed an abundance of poinsettias and other flowers that made the chapel and hospital a scene of beauty for the holidays.

Christmas carols were beautifully rendered by the choirs of the various churches, girl scouts, and several members of the Kingston Local, No. 215, gave a concert the Sunday following Christmas.

29 Permits Are Issued in City

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy issued 29 permits for building, alterations and repairs in the city for December representing an estimated expenditure of $57,506, the completed report showed today.

The total is $4,542 under that of November when 49 permits were issued.

Highest estimated cost was for three dwellings at $43,000, while three permits for non-residential structures were on an estimated $2,000 total. The cost of one open shed was estimated at $200.

Estimates on 15 permits for alterations and repairs on non-residential buildings totaled $7,058, and for one permit on a non-residential structure, $350.

Six permits for oil tanks and burners represented a total estimated cost of $4,898.

Hurley Firemen Elect Officers

Harry Skerritt was re-elected president and Winifred Snyder was re-elected chief of the Hurley Fire Department at the department's annual meeting held at the Hurley school Monday night. Both men will take office for their second consecutive year.

Other officers elected were Jay Molyneaux, vice president; Edmund Czerwinski, secretary-treasurer; Charles Kolodziejski, assistant chief; Isaac Roosa, captain; James Anner, foreman, and Robert Snyder, assistant foreman.

Bell Says Banks Should Not Raise Dividend Rates

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—State Superintendent of Banks Elliott V. Bell says in his annual report that savings banks should not raise dividends "at the expense of appropriate loss reserves."

A number of New York city savings banks, he said in the report last night, raised dividend rates during 1948 when deposits in that type of banks went above the $10,000,000 mark.

Dividend rates of several savings banks have been increased recently from one and a half to two per cent.

Bell said a drop in the rate of growth of mutual savings banks "has led to consideration of higher dividend rates and additional branch facilities as a solution."

The Banking Department, he noted, has recommended that savings banks maintain "mortgage reserves on the basis of an annual provision of one-half of one per cent of portfolio."

Among other items in Bell's report were these:

In the 12 months ended last September 30, there was a total of $900,000,000 in new mortgage lending, representing a rise of about one-third above the previous 12 months. Commercial loans and consumer credit, however, expanded at a slower rate than the previous year.

Loans to individuals and businesses by commercial banks were up a total of $544,000,000. Consumer credit rose $112,000,000.

A reduction of $1,800,000,000 by the banks in government security holdings was primarily responsible for a $870,000,000 increase in commercial bank cash holdings.

Commercial bank deposits remained "virtually unchanged" at $17,800,000,000. Private demand deposits dropped $243,000,000, and private time deposits rose $101,000,000.

Graham Cracker Dessert Is New

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Graham cracker pie shell is an old favorite. But here are two new variations on the graham cracker theme as a dessert base:

Sugar-Honey Pears

Three graham crackers, crushed; 1 tablespoon brown sugar; ¼ teaspoon cinnamon; 1 tablespoon melted butter; 6 canned pear halves; 1 egg white; 2 tablespoons white sugar; ¼ teaspoon vanilla.

Combine graham cracker crumbs, brown sugar, cinnamon and melted butter; mix well. Fill pear halves with the graham cracker mixture. Beat egg white until stiff; gradually beat in the white sugar and vanilla. Cover tops of pears with the meringue. Place in a shallow baking dish; add just enough water to cover bottom of dish. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes or until lightly browned.

Grape Lime Mold
(Serves 4)

One 3-ounce package lime flavored gelatin; 1 cup boiling water; 1 cup ginger ale; sugar-honey graham crackers; 1 cup white grapes cut in half; whipped cream.

Dissolve lime flavored gelatin in the boiling water. Cool. Add ginger ale and chill. Line the bottom of a square or rectangular dish with graham crackers; stand cracker triangles, made by cutting a cracker in half diagonally, around sides of dish. When gelatin mixture begins to thicken fold in grapes and turn into cracker lined dish. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.
